State Senate May Reverse Tax Bill Vote

Delays Further Action on Measure Until Tomorrow

EARMARKS-CASH

Would Use Money for Old Age Pension and Relief Purposes

Madison—(P)—The state senate called a temporary truce on the administration's revenue bill today, with a prospect it might reconsider yesterday's action which converted the budget balancing measure into one earmarked almost exclusively for old age pensions and local relief.

Further work on the bill which, in its present form, would add about $7,500,000 to the budget deficit now estimated as high as $8,000,000, was suspended until tomorrow when several senators announced they would enter reconsideration motions.

With party lines split the senate yesterday adopted 17 to 13 an amendment by Senator Bernhard Gettelman, insurgent Milwaukee Republican, which reduced the proposed new income surtax from $14,000,000 to $10,200,000 and provided all the money should be used for old age pensions.

Also Boosts Aids
It also approved an amendment by Senator Anthony Gawronski (D) Milwaukee, which raised state aids for local governments from $4,000,000 to $9,000,000, virtually eating up the proceeds of the proposed $8,000,000 cigarette tax.

The effect of the Gettelman amendment was to add about $2,500,000 to the present budget figure allotted for pensions.

While there was a chance it would be reconsidered the joint pension committee of both houses today submitted its anticipated report showing the extra money would be necessary to place the state pension law in line with recent changes in the federal social security act.

At the same time the committee introduced in the senate a bill to revise the pension law, increasing the maximum pension allowance from $30 to $40 a month, reducing the counties' share of the cost from 20 to 15 per cent, placing county administration on a civil service basis and making other changes required by the federal act.

Estimate Added Cost
Since the state would have to take over the share lifted from the counties, the additional pension cost from the general fund would be $2,338,650, the committee estimated. It suggested no means of raising the money.

The budget problem remained unsolved pending further developments in the senate.

About $600,000 of lost revenue would be restored under a separate chain store tax bill introduced by Senator Milton T. Murray (R) Milwaukee. It would apply to all types of chains, taxing them at a sliding rate ranging from $2 for two stores to $200 for 24 or more outlets.

The senate, without dissent, adopted the Young-Peters-Greenquist amendment to drop the proposed doubling of liquor taxes and an accompanying wine tax raise. The liquor taxes would have produced approximately $3,250,000 from the assembly bill the provision fixing a flat rate of 6 per cent on corporation income taxes in place of the present sliding scale up to 6 per cent. This would have produced another approximate $360,000.

The roll call on the adoption of the Gettelman amendment:
For adoption—Progressives: Busby, Connors, Greenquist, Hampel, Tugan, Kresky, McDermid, Nelson, Paulson, Riser, and Rush; Democrats: Bolens, Gawronski, Yindra, and Zimny; Republicans: Brown and Gettelman—17.

Against—Republicans: Coakley, Collier, Duff, Fisher, Frehoff, Miller, Mueller, Murray, Peters, Roethe, Shearer and White; Democrats: Young—13.

Absent—Lovelace, Mack and Saud.

Not Lazy, Just Tired
That a big, heaping dish of gelatine can double a man's muscular work before fatigue sets in had now been fully proved by a year's experimentation at the Long Island, N. Y., College of Medicine.

This explains why so many men stick up their noses at gelatine pudding. They dread the consequences. Of course, when it comes to housecleaning or running the lawn mower, they deserve sympathy. So much nicer to spend a lazy spring afternoon in a good used car bought through the classified want ads. This one brought quick results:

1930 CHEV. Coupe, 4 new Pennsylvania tires, New battery. Will sacrifice. 511 E. South River St.

Witness Accused Of Attempting to 'Sabotage' Probe

Dies Names Wouldbe Investigator and Hints At Legal Action

Washington—(P)—The Dies committee asked the United States attorney here today to take "appropriate prosecutive action under the perjury statutes" or other affected laws against Fraser Gardner, who had been accused by Chairman Dies (D-Texas) of an effort to sabotage the house investigation of un-American activities.

A committee resolution covering that decision was read into the record by Chairman Dies (D-Texas), who earlier had said Gardner tried to get a job as a committee investigator while in the employment of an organization being investigated. The organization named was the Skyland Press, operated by William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts.

Washington—(P)—Chairman Dies (D-Texas) accused Fraser Gardner today of seeking a job as investigator with his house committee in order to "sabotage" the investigation into un-American activities and obtain information for groups under scrutiny.

He made this accusation after hearing Gardner, a resident of Washington, testify in closed and then open hearings, first that he had no connection with any group under investigation, and then that he was employed by the Skyland Press, publishing house of William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts.

"This is a clear case," Dies said, "that Pelley and the Silver Shirts have undertaken by this method to secure information in advance and sabotage this investigation."

He asked Rhea Whitley, committee counsel, whether in his opinion a case of contempt of the committee had been presented. Whitley's answer was that "perjury" was more likely involved.

Reads Statements
Dies had the stenographic reporter read into the record of the open hearings the statements made by Gardner in executive session. These included specific denials that he was employed or had been employed by "Pelley's group."

Flushed, the red-haired Gardner asked permission to make an additional statement.

"As God is my judge," he said, "the Skyland Press, Pelley or any other people connected with him know nothing of my application to this committee."

Before today's session, Dies said the committee would match its current inquiry into Nazi and fascist activities with an investigation next week of communist organizations.

Hopkins Orders 'Attack' for Jobs

Wants His Staff of Economists to be Busy on Many Fronts

Washington—(P)—Harry L. Hopkins, secretary of commerce ordered his new staff of economists today to "attack" as well as study unemployment and other American business problems.

In a formal statement on the duties of the men he has hired as business advisers under a $150,000 appropriation of the recent Congress, Hopkins said:

"The function of this group is not merely to study, but to attack major problems on many fronts. I want the department of commerce to proceed vigorously with the view of increasing employment and balancing our economic structure."

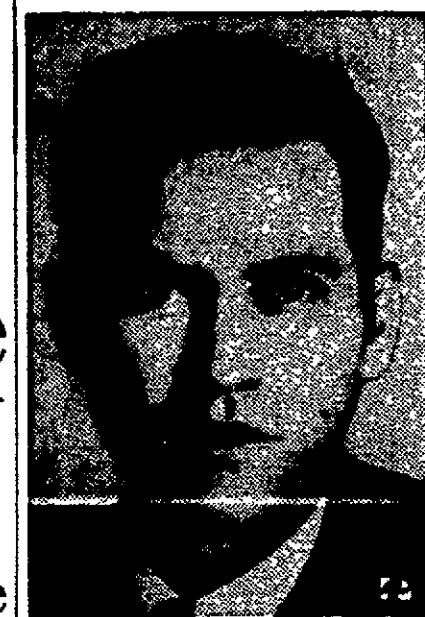

Richard V. Gilbert, former public finance expert of Harvard university, will be in charge of the "industrial economics division."

Grand Jury Asks Dissolution Of Annenberg Big Racing News Setup; Raps 'Illegal Gambling'

Chicago—(P)—M. L. Annenberg, millionaire publisher, was accused today of conspiracy by a federal grand jury which also recommended the dissolution of his vast racing news empire because it "depended almost entirely on illegal gambling."

The special federal grand jury, in session 27 days in its inquiry into alleged violation of monopoly and racketeering laws, returned a presentment along with its indictment of Annenberg and three others on charges of conspiracy to influence a witness before the jury.

James V. Hayes, special assistant attorney general who handled the case, said the witness, Clarence J. Ferguson, a Philadelphia city detective who for 20 years was on the vice and gambling squad

DICTATOR SLAIN

Zimmerman Holds Up Funds for Two Veterans' Groups

Acts on Advice of Attorney General After Legality Is Challenged

Madison—(P)—Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman today stopped payment on state funds to the American Legion and disabled American Veterans convention corporations upon advice of Attorney General John E. Martin.

Notice of the action was given by Martin to William T. Eby, Madison editor, who challenged the legality of two bills appropriating $10,000 to the emergency board for the D. A. V. national convention at Green Bay next year and $50,000 to help Milwaukee obtain the legion convention in 1941.

Martin sustained one contention by Eby that the legislature had voted an illegal delegation of powers to the emergency board, which was authorized to release the funds to the corporations. He found it unnecessary to pass on whether the appropriations were illegal because they were made for private purposes.

Meanwhile Senator Milton T. Murray (R) Milwaukee, introduced a new bill to get around the emergency board issue by appropriating $50,000 for the legion convention direct from the state general fund.

Probe Mystery Death of Woman

Burned and Bruised Body Found on Bed in Kentucky Home

Covington, Ky.—(P)—The mysterious death of 22-year-old Anna May Bishop, whose nude, burned and bruised body was found on her bed yesterday, furnished a puzzle for police today.

Coroner James P. Riffe, who first suggested the girl might have fallen on an electric hot plate near her bed, said closer examination disclosed cuts and welts—possibly caused by a lashing—on her legs, as well as a large burn on her back.

Detectives Leroy Hall and Albert Seiter said the girl's wrists and ankles also showed evidence that she may have been bound with rope or a cord.

The coroner withheld a verdict pending further investigation. The girl's father, Herman Bishop, a huckster who operates a small store in the same building in which he and his daughter lived, told police he found the body after returning from a weekend trip to Brookville, Ind., where he has another residence.

Detectives also questioned two aunts but said they were unable to give any information to clear up the mystery.

Officers said a neighbor reported seeing the girl alive Sunday night. Dr. Riffe reported rigor mortis had not set in when he arrived.

Brazilian Yacht Sunk; 100 Reported Drowned

Rio de Janeiro—(P)—The yacht Lacerda sank today near Port Ilheus, a small Brazilian port, and the newspaper A Noites reported 100 passengers drowned.

President of Bolivia Shot In 'Accident'

Youthful Dictator Dies of Wound in Hospital At La Paz

FORM NEW REGIME

Provisional Government Is Organized Under Army Officer

La Paz, Bolivia—(P)—Propaganda Minister Mario Flores announced today that President German Busch, 35-year-old dictator who died of a pistol shot, had committed suicide.

Flores said Busch had been "suffering intense mental depression as a result of the intense work of the past few days" and that at 5:30 a. m. he shot himself in the right temple.

The president died at 2:45 p. m. of the wound, which at first was officially described as "accidental."

La Paz, Bolivia—(P)—President German Busch, youthful dictator of Bolivia, died at 2:45 p. m. today of a pistol wound officially described as accidental.

The cabinet under General Carlos Quintanilla issued a decree confirming provisional powers, which it had assumed earlier in the day when physicians agreed that the 35-year-old chief magistrate's wound was fatal.

A communique described the shooting as "an unfortunate accident which occurred at dawn."

No other light was thrown on the circumstances.

Quintanilla assumed the provisional presidency, the communique said, "to maintain unalterable public order and the normal development of all public and private activities."

It was learned that the best surgeons and physicians in La Paz were summoned to attend the president but to no avail.

Cautious palace statements indicated the president was taken immediately to a hospital. General Carlos Quintanilla, Vice President Enrique Baldivieso and Minister of Interior Salinas hastened to his bedside.

Extreme Unction

Bishop Antezana of La Paz administered extreme unction to the stricken president at 9 a. m.

Incomplete reports of an "accident" quickly spread through the capital. By noon a huge crowd had gathered outside the hospital waiting further details of the president's condition.

The shooting brought prompt action by President Busch's aids to define the national political situation.

General Quintanilla assumed charge of the government immediately appointing General Bernardino Bilbao as chief of the army.

The new provisional president retained General Busch's cabinet.

After a hasty meeting the entire cabinet went to the hospital to remain with the dying president.

Recommend One-Man Grand Jury Probe of Reported Shortage

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—Attorney General Thomas Read recommended today a one-man grand jury investigation of a reported shortage of funds of the Northern Michigan diocese of the Episcopal church.

His recommendation followed conferences with John D. Voelker, Marquette county prosecutor, who has been conducting an inquiry into the shortages.

"We agreed that at this time it would be proper to petition the proper court to sit as a one-man grand jury for the purpose of determining from the testimony of sworn witnesses whether or not there has been a violation of the criminal statutes," Read said.

The attorney general said Voelker would petition the Marquette circuit court for an investigation probably today or tomorrow.

An inquiry already made by Voelker, the attorney general said, was "made without the aid of legal machinery to compel attendance of witnesses and the taking of testimony."

Cutting's Estate Is Valued at $3,502,302

New York—(P)—United States Senator Bronson M. Cutting (D-N.M.) who died in an airplane crash near Macon, Mo., left a gross estate of $3,502,302, an accounting disclosed today.

The bulk of the estate was left equally to two sisters, Justine B. Ward and Olivia James, and a niece, Iris Origo. The accounting was filed in surrogates' court by the late senator's mother, Mrs. Olivia M. Cutting, Oakdale, N. Y., co-executor.

One bequest was $50,000 to Robert M. LaFollette, Madison, Wis.

French and British Leave Reich; Hitler Refuses to Ease Demands on Poland

Stay Away From Europe, Advice At Washington

Citizens Already Abroad To be Rushed Home In Event of War

London—(P)—British east coast ship-owning firms tonight jointly cancelled the sailings of all vessels due to leave for Baltic or German ports. Further sailings were suspended indefinitely until the international situation is clarified.

One Newcastle vessel which was at sea on her way to Hamburg was recalled by radio.

Washington—(P)—Americans are being advised by the state department not to go to war-threatened Europe.

Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said today the state department was receiving inquiries from citizens as to whether they should travel abroad.

The reply is being given, he said, that in view of the very uncertain state of affairs in Europe, the state department certainly would not encourage American citizens to go there if they could see their way clear not to do so.

With regard to American citizens already abroad, Welles said, the state department is giving the fullest discretion to the American diplomats in various capitals.

If the diplomats feel it advisable, they may advise Americans to leave Europe as soon as possible.

The American embassies in Poland and France have given United States citizens suggestions to that effect.

Amid renewed discussions of American neutrality policy, plans were being perfected today to rush home thousands of United States citizens if war breaks out in Europe.

Use Merchant Ships

Merchant ships will be relied upon to transport the majority of Americans from danger zones, officials said.

Tear Gas Used in Bay State Strike

Deputies Discharge Shells And Grenades Into Crowd

South Barre, Mass.—(P)—Sheriff's deputies discharged at least four tear gas shells and half a dozen gas grenades into a milling crowd in front of the struck Barre Wool Combing company plant today after a woman strike-sympathizer smashed a window of an automobile carrying workers into the mill.

The altercation marked the first use of tear gas in the four-week strike and occurred as citizens were demanding state police aid to avert repetition of a clash last night in which 11 persons, including a 10-year-old girl, were injured by flying stones.

One of the gas shells struck a 24-year-old striker in the leg, causing serious injury.

Deputies said they had warned the crowd previously to stay on the sidewalk opposite the plant and fired only when it broke from this position as the officers started after the woman glass-breaker. In the resulting melee, she escaped.

Madison Police To Regulate Traffic Around the Capitol

Madison—(P)—State employees henceforth will have no special privileges in the parking of automobiles around the state capitol. State law has abolished them.

Governor Heil signed yesterday a bill which requires capitol policemen to keep the four entrances to the capitol clear of cars and permits Madison to restrict by ordinance parking along the inside curb of Capitol square.

The governor signed the bill of Senator Marvin Duell (R) Fond du Lac, which, beginning next year, will save Wisconsin employers an estimated $750,000 under the unemployment compensation law.

Attacks Playmate Who Called Him 'Convict'

Montrose, Calif.—(P)—Police Officer P. C. Stebbins arrested Richard Jensen, 14, today and said he admitted striking a playmate because "he called me a convict."

William Williams, 13, was found driving yesterday beneath the home of Jensen's parents, his throat choked with wire and his skull crushed.

Stebbins found the boy riding his bicycle near the beach at Venice, Calif., 25 miles from Montrose. The policeman quoted the boy as saying: "He called me a convict. He was teasing me about spending time at Whittier (state school). After I hit him a couple of times, everything went black."

Britain Will Stand by Poland, Ambassador Tells Nazi Leader

London—(P)—The British ambassador to Berlin, Nevill Borchers, today delivered to Adolf Hitler a declaration that Britain's guarantee to Poland remains unaltered by the projected German-soviet Russian non-aggression pact—that Britain is determined to aid Poland if necessary.

Officially it was disclosed that the envoy, Sir Neville Henderson, was instructed to say his government was "determined to resist to the uttermost" any resort to force by Germany which Poland considered a threat to her independence and chose to resist.

The ambassador's instructions were said to be along the lines of a statement issued here last night after a long British cabinet meeting.

Meantime, the British committee of imperial defense, composed of representatives from the cabinet, dominions and military services met during the morning.

Last night's statement also pointed out "there is nothing in the difficulties that have arisen between Germany and Poland which justify the use of force involving a European war with all its tragic consequences."

It also said there were no questions in Europe "which should not be capable of peaceful solution, if only conditions of confidence could be restored," that the British government was and had been ready "to assist in creating such conditions."

On the heels of British and French declarations of determination to stand by Poland, the two powers made ready for quick conversion to a war footing.

Dairy Strike Chiefs In New York Favor Compromise Offer

Utica, N. Y.—(P)—After a series of conferences, strike leader Archie Wright announced today a poll of Dairy Farmer union officials revealed "universal sentiment" to accept a compromise price increase offer and a bloody nine-day milk boycott.

Wright's announcement came on the eve of a convention vote on the compromise. He indicated official action by the delegates would be in the nature of a formality and, immediately following the vote, milk would start flowing into the drying big New York city market.

"We are all agreed," the former sailor union head declared, "we are just one big family." As Wright made his announcement, copies of the proposed agreement which will give farmers a blended price of $2.15 per hundredweight (47 quarts) for their milk were being prepared for the signature of leaders by a stenographer.

Signings of the agreement, which also will be formally approved by distributors in New York city tonight, will end nine days of strike and violence in the big milkshed, marked by one death and numerous arrests.

Car Thefts Suspect Escapes From Posses

Mineral Point, Wis.—(P)—Shielded by two sisters from gunfire of a sheriff's posse, Grover Adams, 17, of Mineral Point, fled last night when Iowa county officers surrounded his grandmother's home. Sheriff Verl Poas said today.

The youth, arrested with Clement Jackson, 24, near Blue Mounds Sunday on car theft charges, escaped from the Iowa county jail at Dodgeville Monday night. He climbed through the chimney.

The sheriff said he learned Adams was hiding here at the home of Mrs. A. L. Richards. Accompanied by two deputies and Police Chief George Tonkin, the sheriff went to the Richards home last night to apprehend him.

The officers surrounded the house and commanded Adams to come out. He walked out between his sisters, but suddenly broke away from them and ran into the darkness. The officers withheld gunfire for fear of injuring the girls.

Infantile Paralysis Threat in Michigan

Detroit—(P)—City Health Commissioner Henry F. Vaughan announced today he would recommend that opening of Detroit schools be postponed for a week or 10 days because of the current outbreak of infantile paralysis. Schools were scheduled to open Sept. 6.

His address was relayed to the United States, England, France, Norway and Sweden.

Leopold, whose father, the late King Albert, was a heroic figure of the World war, declared that another "horrible struggle is being prepared."

"I therefore send this appeal: 'We solemnly formulate the vow that the men on whom the course of events depends should accept submission of their claims to open negotiations in a spirit of brotherly cooperation.'

"I express the hope that other chiefs of states will join their voices to ours in the same desire to assure peace and security for their peoples."

Says Federation 'Treacherous' in Labor Law Stand

CIO Leader Attacks Proposals for Amending Wagner Act

Washington—(P)—The CIO contended today that American Federation of Labor proposals to revise the Wagner labor act "constitute an act of deepest treachery to the workers of this country."

The assertion was contained in a statement by Lee Pressman, CIO general counsel, and was submitted to the senate labor committee as a supplement to previous CIO testimony in opposition to changes in the labor law.

"Self-styled leaders of labor" in the A. F. of L. the statement said, "are attempting to deprive the workers of protection against the merciless attacks of anti-labor corporations."

Among other things, the A. F. of L. amendments would curtail power of the national labor board to invalidate contracts between employers and labor organizations and would strengthen the hand of craft unions in dealings with the board.

"The significance of this traitorous activity on the part of the leaders of the A. F. of L. is known to and appreciated by the rank and file members," Pressman's statement said. "An overwhelming revolt has occurred within the ranks of the A. F. of L. in regard to their proposed amendments to the Wagner act."

Claims Dickinson Drive on Gambling Proves Successful

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—Muriel H. DeFoe, a member of the liquor control commission, said today the campaign of Governor Dickinson to rid the state of gambling devices had "produced the desired results."

"The number of liquor establishments where slot machines and other forms of gambling were allowed can be counted on both hands," DeFoe said.

"Apparently the governor's campaign had the desired results. The situation has reached the point where we are certain there are few, if any, violations taking place."

DeFoe charged recently that gambling interests were attempting to "besmirch" the Dickinson administration by opening slot machines and other gambling devices.

"Where wilful violations have occurred," he said, "the commission will not hesitate to revoke licenses."

'Worst Can Still be Avoided,' Belgian King Says in Plea On Behalf of Seven Nations

Brussels—(P)—King Leopold of the Belgians, speaking in the name of seven small neutral nations, appealed to the world for peace tonight and declared "the worst can still be avoided."

The king expressed the "solemn vow" that the statesmen of Europe should "accept open negotiations of their differences."

His address was broadcast from his palace.

It was approved in a one-day conference of seven small countries invoking their will to "collaborate actively in any international efforts for conciliation."

Leopold spoke for 10 minutes, with a grave voice, in the presence of the foreign ministers of Belgium, Denmark, Finland, Norway, Sweden, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

His address was relayed to the United States, England, France, Norway and Sweden.

Leopold, whose father, the late King Albert, was a heroic figure of the World war, declared that another "horrible struggle is being prepared."

"I therefore send this appeal: 'We solemnly formulate the vow that the men on whom the course of events depends should accept submission of their claims to open negotiations in a spirit of brotherly cooperation.'

"I express the hope that other chiefs of states will join their voices to ours in the same desire to assure peace and security for their peoples."

'Surrender or Fight!' Fuehrer's Reported Stand

TENSION GROWS

England's Air Raid Precautions Virtually on 'War Basis'

Paris—(AP)—France tonight ordered partial mobilization after an emergency meeting of her national defense council.

The order meant that French troops called to the colors will number somewhere between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000.

It meant further that men who had completed their military service less than two years ago or were specialists had already been called.

Berlin—(P)—The German official news agency (DNB) reported Polish cannon had fired at two German civilian transport planes today. Neither plane was hit.

The three-motored plane "D-Abbr", aboard which were 17 passengers including four children, was fired upon by a Polish coastal vessel and Polish coast defense batteries off the coast of Danzig, the news service said.

Previously, aviation authorities of Danzig reported that about mid-afternoon the German plane Von Bieberstein had been the target of Polish anti-aircraft batteries on the Polish corridor border.

Paris—(P)—France's ranking army, navy and air chiefs met Premier Daladier at the war ministry late this afternoon for an emergency review of the critical international situation.

Local Milk Laws Badly Enforced, Legislature Told

Dealers Urge Assembly
Committee to Reenact
Price Control Law

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Laxity in the enforcement of local health ordinances makes state control of city milk prices and standards necessary, Neil McBeath of the Consolidated Badger Cooperative of Savano and Appleton told the assembly agricultural committee yesterday afternoon as individual producers, cooperatives, and dealers continued their battle for a continuation of the state milk price control law.

McBeath was one of several dozen producers and dealers who crowded the hearing room to argue for a continuation of the present statute. Previous attempts to pass milk price laws at this session of the legislature have been defeated. The present measure was adopted hurriedly by the state senate last week without a roll call, and will shortly come before the assembly which has shown earlier that it is hostile to statutory price regulation.

Dealers from most of the larger cities of the state including Appleton, Sheboygan, Milwaukee, Madison, Eau Claire, LaCrosse, and others predicted ruin for themselves and the farmers who supply the city markets if state control is allowed to expire and free competition at natural prices is resumed.

Stabilize Market
"The present law is the decisive factor in stabilizing the market," said McBeath. "We are not unmindful of the fellows who do not have a fluid market, but the addition of the law will create a disturbance because every dairy farmer is a potential distributor. The removal of the control law will also have a serious effect on the quality of bottle milk," he said, declaring that "some of the violators have read about it in the newspapers have been found in an investigation to have insubstantial premises."

When Assemblyman William J. Sweeney of DePere, Democratic member of the legislature for three terms and one of a small handful to speak against the control law at yesterday's hearing, asked whether local ordinances were not adequate to insure high quality bottle milk, McBeath said:

"In our market, there's very lax in enforcing it, and I venture to say that in most markets enforcement is not stringent."

Other Fox valley speakers included Amos Page and Emory Melz, both of whom argued that the higher prices under the control law enable the farmer to produce higher quality milk profitably. They maintained that the consumer would suffer with a return to the unregulated conditions of 1932 and earlier.

"When we have price wars in the Fox river valley," the producer, always gets less," said Melz, an Appleton farmer.

No Higher Prices
Milo K. Santon, legislative representative of the big and powerful Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, maintained that the Wisconsin consumer prices under regulation are no higher, and frequently lower, than the consumer prices in states which do not have price regulation, and that the farmer at the same time is getting a larger and fairer share of the consumer's purchase price.

"This law has accomplished immeasurable good in preventing the ridiculously low prices which are the ruin of the farmer," he said.

Swanton denied that high retail milk prices stimulate production, to the detriment of the manufacturing dairy industry. "We wouldn't be so short-sighted as to do something which would hurt the butter or cheese industry," he explained.

Sweeney previously bitter in condemnation of the pegged price system, said that "a group of people in my district came down here twice before to oppose this proposition and they can't afford to come any more. They can't see why they're paying 10 cents a quart in Green Bay while a few miles away the farmers are getting two cents."

Sweeney said that a majority of the farmers who attended the dairy men's mass meeting at Green Bay recently are opposed to price control, and that every one of a dozen consumers he interviewed a few days ago in DePere testified that they would use more milk if they could buy it more cheaply.

"Pointing to the refusal of dealers and producers' representatives," he said, "These men are here for their own selfish interests. This law was enacted in 1933 at the request of the big Milwaukee milk companies who wanted to charge higher prices. They're like hitch-hikers on the highways; they want to be carried along. I'm for competition and against codes and controls that let them go out and fight for a living."

Amendments to the law suggested by Joseph Lieberman, Milwaukee attorney, would eliminate provisions allowing the department to set prices to consumers and giving it certain judicial powers.

"Under the present law," Lieberman said, "the department is the complainant, prosecutor, judge and jury. The value of a court appeal is mere fiction because the court, under the law, cannot disturb the findings of fact of the department unless they are obtained under fraud."

"FREEZE" PATIENT TO CURE CANCER

Held at Veterans Home
Waupaca—Military funeral services for Herbert L. Olson, 49, were conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Rev. Elmer Shepherd, Parfreyville, at the Wisconsin Veterans Home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Olson died unexpectedly Saturday morning at the home of his mother in Tomahawk, who was so critically ill that he had been sent for. ## Form Corporation for Economic Advancement Of American Farmers

Madison—Articles incorporating the finance committee of the American Farmers Foundation were filed today in the office of the secretary of state at Madison.

The incorporators are William H. Markham of Horicon, Walter F. Egan of Madison, and Gustave A. Reading of Milwaukee.

Markham said the corporation's purposes are the organization of the farmers of America into an efficient group for economic advancement; the establishment of fair minimum prices for all farm products; the safeguarding of farmers from the schemes of politicians "who desert the cause of the farmers after using their votes 'for their own selfish purposes'; the perfection of a militant farmers' organization; maintenance of an economic floor for the farmers; and the obtaining for the farmers of a reasonable adjustment of interest rates on farm indebtedness."

Stay Away From Europe, Advice At Washington

Officials explained, but added that more than a score of naval vessels in the Atlantic squadron could help if necessary.

The subject was among those considered late yesterday at an unusual meeting of representatives from five government departments, who canvassed various neutrality problems without disclosing any decisions.

There was widespread belief in the capital President Roosevelt would call congress into a special session in event of a major war. This led to speculation the non-aggression talks between Germany and Russia might force the administration to re-examine its proposals for revising the four-year-old neutrality law.

Failed in Plan
President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull fought unsuccessfully during the recent congress for repeal of the arms embargo, favoring instead the sale of armaments and munitions to belligerents on a "cash and carry" basis.

Both friends and foes of this proposal have conceded it would benefit Great Britain and France, because those countries presumably would control sea traffic with the United States in event of war.

Some members of congress argued today this plan would not work if Germany were able to draw on Russia's vast store of raw materials.

A state department report at the start of the year showed 2,569 Americans living in Poland. The department has instructed the American embassy at Warsaw to use its best judgment in advising these residents and any tourists about leaving the country.

The fact the European tourist season still was in effect increased the problem of evacuating Americans, officials explained. The Czechoslovakian crisis last September came to most travelers had returned home.

President Roosevelt was expected to reach Washington Friday after his vacation cruise up the New England and Canadian coasts. He has been receiving prompt reports of European developments, but will have a chance Sunday to get a firsthand account of conditions abroad from Prince Consort Felix of Luxembourg, who will be a White House guest.

Elected as vice commander was H. O. Johnson, of Ramsay. Donald G. Glascof, of Detroit, was reappointed state adjutant.

Milk Cooperative Votes to Approve Marketing Setup

Directors of Association
Agree Unanimously
To Accept Plan

Chicago—The proposed federal milk marketing plan for the Chicago area carried the official approval today of the Pure Milk association, largest cooperative in the milk shed.

Directors of the association voted unanimously yesterday to accept the plan on behalf of 8,200 P.M.A. members who ship to the Chicago market.

In addition to the P.M.A. members, 18 cooperative farmers and members of 16 cooperatives were qualified to vote. Approximately 16,000 dairy farmers in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Michigan would be affected by the marketing plan.

P.M.A. officials expressed confidence the required two-thirds affirmative vote by producers would be surpassed. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has authority to establish the plan if it is approved by two-thirds of the producers and 50 per cent of the milk dealers. Lacking support from the dealers, the plan may be established only with the consent of President Roosevelt.

The proposed agreement calls for the establishment of a minimum price for fluid milk and "blended" price for milk used in other forms. No provision is made for fixing of retail prices.

'Blues' are Defenders

Plattsburg, N. Y.—A "black" army, theoretically successful in landing on the New England coast, moved warily through the Adirondack foothills today, intent on striking a blow at New York City.

Somewhere south of Plattsburg, the invaders expected to encounter this afternoon the outposts of a defending "blue" force, numerically smaller but equipped with the latest devices of high-speed warfare.

The resulting "battle" will provide the climax of the first army maneuvers in which 52,000 troops—greatest peace-time force assembled in the nation's history—have been engaged for the past 10 days.

Cases Involve 1,000

New Orleans—Rufus W. Fontenot, Louisiana internal revenue collector, declared today a preliminary survey of federal income tax evasion cases indicated some 1,000 persons in the state were involved, with amounts "running into the millions of dollars."

Fontenot returned yesterday from a tour of the state and announced there were indications of "a lot of fraud where big money is involved. There are big shots and the small fry; some politicians and some plain citizens."

Twelve couples were present. The board of directors of the Commercial Bank of Chilton presented Mr. Jackels with a wrist watch in appreciation for the services he has rendered to the bank during his four years as cashier.

The gift bears an appropriate inscription by the donors.

Grand Jury Asks Dissolution Of Annenberg Big Racing News Setup; Raps 'Illegal Gambling'

persuade Ferguson to give false testimony.

The indictment alleged four overt acts, one specifically the payment of $100 to Ferguson in Chicago.

Today's action by the grand jury was entirely separate from that of another federal grand jury which on Aug. 11 accused Annenberg of the largest personal income tax evasion on record—more than $3,500,000 including penalties—and yesterday accused him and seven others of conspiracy to violate the income tax law in the operation of one of his companies.

The jury reported to Federal Judge William H. Holly along with its indictment of a presentment stating that Nationwide News Service, its subsidiaries, James M. Ragen, Sr., Nationwide's manager, and the Cecelia company, Annenberg's top holding corporation, "depended almost entirely upon illegal gambling off track bookmaking."

Tracing briefly the history of the alleged monopoly, the presentment added that off-track bookmaking depends entirely on the wire services.

Doubt Legality
"In the opinion of the jury," Hayes said, "trade and commerce as used in the Sherman act were not intended to cover illegal industries or one that aids and abets illegal activities."

The presentment continued that "the grand jury has concluded not to present any indictment" (in the monopoly investigation) but recommended:

That there be stricter enforcement of the gambling laws throughout the country.

Revocation of charters of National News Service and all its subsidiaries in all states where they are incorporated.

That congress enact laws prohibiting the use of interstate wires in the fashion used by Nationwide News.

Judge Holly fixed bond at $10,000 for each defendant.

This was the third indictment returned here against Annenberg in the last 12 days.

Yesterday a federal grand jury delving into his income tax affairs accused him and seven others concerned with the operations of the Consensus Publishing company of conspiracy to defraud the United States of $137,720.36 in taxes, interest, and penalties.

The same grand jury on Aug. 11 returned an indictment charging Annenberg with willful evasion of income taxes, plus penalties and interest, totaling $5,548,384.89.

His son, Walter, his chief accountant, Arnold W. Kruse, and Joseph E. Hager, another associate, also were named in the indictment.

Investigation of what Campbell described as "special phases" of the Annenberg case, "including any anti-trust, monopoly or anti-racketeering charges," began 27 days ago. Witnesses were drawn from every section of the country, as the inquiry proceeded, and it was learned from federal officials that a representative of every race track operating in the United States came before the jurors.

ISSUES STATEMENT
Chicago—(AP)—Informed of the action of the federal grand jury today, M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher, issued this statement through his attorney, Weymouth Kirkland:

"I have not seen the so-called presentment or report which I am told the grand jury made to the court, but it strikes me that with all the resources of the government and the very intensive and comprehensive investigation which the federal bureau of investigation have made they would have obtained an indictment if in fact there were any basis for any charges of racketeering or restraint of trade."

"Having been unable to establish any violation of law, they apparently were unwilling to do the fair thing and to stop there, but they seemed to think it necessary, acting in the name of the grand jury, to make a report. I wonder what part the grand jury took in the preparation of that report."

"I point out also that the grand jury investigation was ex parte. From newspaper reports it is clear that witnesses before the grand jury to a great extent were a collection of persons gathered from all over the United States, including anybody and everybody, whom the government agents believed might be unfriendly to me and would be willing to make wild charges against me. For the most part the witnesses from my own organization who could have presented the true facts, even when called to Chicago to testify, were dismissed without being presented to the grand jury."

CHES Judicial Opinion
"It is interesting to note that the master-in-chancery, Charles A. McDonald, before whom witnesses were presented for both sides and who were examined and cross-examined by able counsel, after careful consideration wrote a judicial opinion holding that there was no evidence to support any charges of violation of the anti-trust laws against my companies. I refer to the Flanagan suit."

"The charge that I conspired to influence someone to give untrue testimony before the grand jury is simply one more step in the plan to besmirch me. This is evident from the fact that the indictment does not contain a single statement of any acts committed by me alone or in conjunction with anyone."

"I have never seen the government witness whose testimony I am supposed to have attempted to influence. I am told that the witness is a Philadelphia policeman. I cannot imagine what evidence he could possibly have given against me which might lead the government to believe that I would be interested in giving him any inducement whatsoever to influence his testimony."

Fair Attendance Below 1938 Level Old-Timers Feted

Governor Heil to Award
Certificates to 92
Farmers Today

Milwaukee—(AP)—Plagued by rain and bad weather, the state fair went into its fifth session today with total attendance of only 230,141 compared to last year's four day figure of 261,088.

Fair weather, however, was forecast for today.

Guests of honor yesterday were members of the Old Time Fair Goers club, who turned out 93 strong and were feted at a banquet. The oldest member registered was John J. Loew, 90, Menominee Falls.

The old timers elected Frank Bell of Columbus, as their new president to succeed Henry Stokke of Waterloo. John McGowan, of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Louis Mancegold, of Kenosha, were named vice president and secretary, respectively.

Today was Governor's day and Wisconsin's chief executive, Julius Heil, was

Use of Chemicals To Destroy Weeds Advised for Fall

Sodium Chlorate Effective When Applied in September, October

In planning the final thrust of the season against weeds, the state department of agriculture urges the use of sodium chlorate as an effective weed destroyer, according to a bulletin received by J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent. While this chemical is most effective when applied late in September and during October against perennial weeds such as quack grass, Canada thistles and field bindweed, it is recommended that plans for its use be made early.

Right now is a good time to stake out that patch of field bindweed so you won't forget it," was pointed out by Henry Lunz, inspector in charge of seed and weed control for the department.

"Measure up the acres you wish to treat and determine the amount of chemical necessary. Include at least five or six feet beyond the outside plants in your measurements. When the time comes to apply the sodium chlorate be sure to apply it to the whole area as there may be plants underground which cannot be seen."

In computing the amount of chemical, multiply the number of square rods by four for field bindweed and by three for Canada thistles, Lunz advised.

Where the field can be cultivated, chemicals are not recommended for thistles but can be used along fence rows and in other places difficult to get at.

Sodium chlorate is now available in granulated form and does not easily become hard or lumpy. Its application in dry form, Lunz said, is just as effective and is less difficult. Simply measure the area, weigh the chemical, and apply evenly.

Pastures Give Third Of Feed in Corn Belt

Good pastures are good business for the farmer. In seven different districts of the country where the federal department of agriculture studied feed requirements for market milk production, pasture furnished nearly a third of all feed. But was only a seventh of the feed required. On 478 corn belt farms, pasture furnished more than half the feed for beef cattle, but was only a third of the total feed bill.

Because good pastures are a good investment, the AAA is helping many farmers in the northeastern, east central and a number of southern states to improve pastures with lime and superphosphate. In these regions, farmers may pay for lime and superphosphate with federal conservation payments they earn for carrying out soil-building and soil-conserving practices. The farmers obtain the soil-building materials with the understanding that they use them to improve their pastures.

Filling of Silos Is Begun Early in County

Well in advance of regular harvest time, farmers in Outagamie county already have begun filling their silos. First to start the job of making silage was Alfred Springstroh, Freedom, who began last Friday, August 18. Another early starter was Emil Jentz, Center, who began August 19.

Early harvesting of corn this year is explained by the dryness of pastures which makes necessary an immediate supplementary feed for cattle in order to maintain the milk supply.

Report Record Clover Crop Near New London

Farmers east of New London this week are cutting the best red clover seed they have raised in the last 17 years. Some report as many as 100 seeds to the head. Seed grain in other localities around New London is not yet ready for harvest nor is it reported to be so good.

Threshing has been finished on most farms and silo filling will begin soon.

GOBBLERS WILL BE SHOWN AT FAIR

Victor Quick, left, Waupaca county agricultural agent, and Allen P. Walch, Manawa, member of the board of directors of the Waupaca County fair, look over young gobblers in the flock on the Ray Myers farm, route 3, Weyauwega. A number of these birds will be exhibited at the annual county fair at Weyauwega Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Annual Waupaca County Fair Opens Friday at Weyauwega

Royalton — Waupaca county will open its sixty-sixth annual agricultural fair Friday at the Weyauwega Fair grounds, rated as one of the best county fair grounds in the state.

Back in 1873-74 the county fair was held in Waupaca and in 1875 it was moved to Weyauwega and held at the Turner Garden. The 25-cent entrance fee must have presented some difficulties at that time as no fence enclosed the grounds. Part of the present fair grounds was purchased the same year from the late January Carpenter with later purchases from Hudson, Meiklejohn and the Devans estate. The present grounds includes 40 acres of land.

The grounds boasts an abundance of shade trees and five wells with power pumps provide an adequate supply of water. The soil is light so that there is no drainage problem after heavy rains. Buildings are ample and kept in good repair.

Original stockholders and organizers included 124 persons. The late John Baxter was the first president and the late F. W. Sack, then editor of the Weyauwega Times, was the first secretary. The first shares were sold at $1 each and a short time later set at $10 each. Later the price advanced to $30 each.

Warner, Wisconsin Rapids; A. Nicolai and John Polma, Kenosha.

THE KNIGHTS OF THE DOUBLE CROSS IN ACTION

Last April when the Saturday Evening Post started a series of articles written by General Krivitsky, long of the Russian army but who seemed to have a feeling in his veins hostile to purges, the Red acolytes at New York demurred there was even such a general and pooh-poohed his story. But the friendly clasp of hands between Berlin and Moscow serves to show how accurately General Krivitsky was detailing history long in advance.

After reading the Krivitsky articles and noting indelible signs of their authenticity the Post-Crescent wrote that it had been demonstrated "beyond all reasonable possibility that any day Hitler smiles at Moscow the Russians will throw down their guns to be smacked on both cheeks."

General Krivitsky said that Stalin feared Germany more than anything in the world and that he would gladly concede almost anything to buy peace from Hitler.

Stalin could have reasoned, too, that if it were proper for Britain to appease Hitler by tossing him Czechoslovakia why should not Russia appease him by handing him Danzig and the Polish Corridor.

Yet Stalin realizes that Hitler's agreement of non-aggression is worthless except for the purpose of beguiling those who love to be deluded; and Hitler realizes that Moscow's agreement of non-aggression is equally worthless and that Moscow was only looking for some means of pleasing Germany and permitting her to slice up Poland without losing face. For while both countries have good reason to dread possible and unknowable results of war Stalin has more fear to quake concerning those consequences because there are millions of ghosts of the slaughtered to return for vengeance in the form of friends and relatives.

But the Reds, glib and cunning with their tongues but far from courageous physically, may develop another one of those theoretical explanations of the pact with Germany to satisfy the craving for answers, any sort of answers, of the numerous hair-brained who support Communism. This theory probably will be that Russia desires to remain aloof from battle a little longer to strengthen itself for the great day of reckoning. In the meantime, according to this idea, Moscow will permit the rest of Europe to weaken itself by strife so that it will fall into the bag the more readily when the great day comes.

And now what shall we say of the magnificent adventures of our noble President in Europe statecraft? There was that quarantine speech in Chicago wherein Mr. Roosevelt implied that with sulphur or some other smelly stuff he was going to either set apart or cleanse the totalitarian states. But of course that didn't include Russia for the Reds were his friends working him for all that was in it. Then there was his distinguished gesture in calling the Brussels conference by which he promised to use a secret process to get Japan out of China by Easter. This was followed by recalling our ambassador from Berlin and advising Hitler of the dread consequences of war, one of which was to be our support of the Reich's enemies.

If some college freshman had written a thesis suggesting that his country take the very steps taken by Mr. Roosevelt he might have risked suspension by the faculty on the ground that he was too immature for such a subject as world politics.

A MAN AND HIS DOG

Down in Kenosha a filling station proprietor slept in his place of business to try to outwit those who had frequently burglarized him. His dog lay alongside as he slept. With his sharper hearing the dog was awakened by the burglar's first step but was too smart to bark. He quietly but effectively awakened his master by nuzzling him. As a result one burglar was killed and the other subsequently captured.

This is but a trivial part of the service dogs constantly render to men whereby they have earned the description of "man's best friend."

But it may account for the fact that down in Raleigh, North Carolina, only a week ago a mob attacked a man who had been seen clubbing a mongrel pup to death and seemed about as enraged as if he had been pounding into unconsciousness some defenseless boy.

People have long since learned that cruelty to animals in general is both cowardly and depraved but cruelty to dogs is worse because it is ungrateful.

MR. EVJUE AND PUBLIC FUNDS

Last week some members of the Wisconsin legislature nearly blew their Adam's apple to pieces in a tumbling flow of denunciation at a certain newspaperman known as William T. Evjue because he took initial steps in a legal way to prevent appropriations to certain veterans associations.

This was not the first baptism of fire for Mr. Evjue. By now he must be recognized as a member of that select clan known as the Stormy Petrels. Perhaps a certain waspish manner he occasionally evidences may induce an overabundance of virulence in the counter-attack but think of what a lonesome and shabby state Wisconsin would become if we had no one hereabouts to raise the blood pressure.

We are not inclined to discount the personal feeling that entered into the controversy but it would be amazing if a "citizen and taxpayer" were to be ragged against merely because he dared protest that the legislature had not proceeded according "to law and order" in making its appropriations.

The melee at Madison may justify us in recalling events in the days when horses were still hitched to buggies, a period very unfashionable in the political parlors of today. But each community then had men and women who watched carefully the functioning of city councils, county boards and the legislature as well. They were considered honorable people. The appellation "watchdog of the treasury" was a distinction.

There are always raids of one sort or another against the public funds just as there will always be fair arguments in respect to the use of that two cents a package on his cigarettes the truck driver at Superior will pay into the treasury, and how to determine whether an appropriation is for "public purposes."

Men may apply to the courts to hold up appropriations for a variety of reasons. Perhaps Mr. Evjue would not have made the application had a Progressive legislature been in the saddle. But that is really beside the point.

We feel like commending the Madison editor just for helping us try to arouse the people to the proposition that public funds are really for public purposes and that legislatures must define the purpose with precision. We have been crying that gospel so long, and seemingly in such a wilderness, and during the attacks of the Praetorian Guard, the greatest plunder-burden in history upon the federal treasury, that it is pleasant to see someone else espouse the principle even though that other may be unaware of the parallel.

THANKSGIVING WITHOUT BLOODSHED ANYWAY

In 1582 Pope Gregory XIII reformed the Julian calendar. The step was taken by the pontiff in conformity to the scientific opinion of the day which was, in fact, correct. In other words the old calendar wasn't working out with the sun. And although it was only slightly off a discrepancy of 11 days had accumulated through the centuries.

Of course the Catholic countries proceeded at once to adopt the new calendar. But England wasn't Catholic and couldn't conceive that a pope could be right with respect to anything.

Actually, England did not accept the Gregorian calendar until 1752. Hardly ever did the tight little island know more acrimonious political speechifying than before the calendar was put in step with the sun. The Whigs demanded "Give us our eleven days!" as though the change had stolen part of their lives. And to show that the matter was no love affair the riots at Bristol left 150 dead upon the streets.

Even if some of our governors will not accede to Mr. Roosevelt's new Thanksgiving, even though we pour out printer's ink in reckless abandon, and even if half the country is sitting down to turkey soup and turkey hash while the rest is preparing to divide the bird hot out of the oven it seems evident we have made some progress even since 1752.

A Verse for Today

LET ME GROW OLD WITH MUSIC

Let me grow old with Music. I will use Melody for my crutch My body may Be worn and halting when the last taps play, But I shall have strength when I cannot lose.

For though my limbs may falter, the divine Fragment that feeds on Music will endure. My spirit will walk joyfully and sure To the remembered cadence that is mine

Let me grow old within a world of song The burden cannot be too hard to bear With Music to relieve my heart of care By making the load light, the spirit strong.

TWO PROFESSORS' VIEWS

The New Deal has drawn largely upon the talent of professors for its experiments. There are a couple of professors, however, who recently expressed views that are entirely uncompromising to the New Deal.

Dr. William Starr Myers, professor of politics at Princeton, in a prepared address opening a three day conference at Dartmouth college, applied the term "dictatorship" in saying Mr. Roosevelt held "it for the president to make the policies, and for congress to find the methods to carry out his will."

"The TVA plan is pure socialism," he added. "Our present system of taxation and 'relief' is

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—The Honorable Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of the State of Michigan, was much too smart for the New York slickers when he came here to represent Gov. Dickinson at Michigan Day at the Fair.

It is a quaint New York custom of make much ado over trivial matters, and Mr. Kelly stepped right into the middle of one of the summer's most trivial episodes. I refer to the tempest in a teapot stirred up by the statement of his governor earlier in the summer that New York is something of a nest of iniquity, that the Demon Rum has our citizens by the throat, and that young womanhood stands somewhat on an "awful brink."

The New York slickers schemed to put Mr. Kelly and the whole state of Michigan on the spot. They thought it would be convulsing if they could induce the Honorable Secretary of State to conduct himself in a gay and sophisticated manner while in town, thereby having the laughter on the 80-year-old Gov. Dickinson. One shrewd publicist arranged to have a gorgeous chorus girl, not too warmly clad, approach the Secretary of the State of Michigan and offer him a highball. It was the publicist's idea that photographers would take a picture of this scandalous proceeding, and that the American people, seeing the picture in their newspapers, would choke thereat.

Mr. Kelly fooled them. With charming tact he dismissed both the lady and the liquor. He said that Gov. Dickinson's abhorrence of alcoholic beverages was Gov. Dickinson's own business and that the State of Michigan was not concerned; and he himself bore no hate against liquor and that he even on occasion partook of same; but that he was in New York representing the Governor and would represent him with dignity, not devilment.

The New York slickers were very unhappy; and we Michigan-born New Yorkers saw Mr. Kelly to his train late that night, mighty proud.

The employment chief of one of the country's largest hotel chains, chatting with a few of us the other evening, said: "This talk about there being very few jobs for job-hunters is largely poppycock, as far as my experience goes. We need workers all the time—all types of hotel workers. But we can't get them! There are plenty of applicants, but good, able, competent workers are actually scarce. I don't know what has happened, but I know I can't find the kind of employees we need."

The Fair has its own police force, but if there is any serious arresting to be done the regular officers of the city generally are called upon. Lawbreaking, however, has been trifling. The most spectacular need for the law's minions has arisen from activities of the part not of the customers, but of Fair employees themselves. This has been due to the occasional determination of the forces of righteousness to check nudistic tendencies at some of the amusements.

These raids have proved embarrassing because of the difficulty in raising bonds for those arrested. The remoteness of the Fair from the usual centers of bondsmen's activities means much delay in getting the arrested ones out of their cells. The bond asked in such cases is seldom more than a few hundred dollars. The difficulty is that these sums are not available at the Fair. Such amusements as the Aquacade and "The Hot Mikado" take in thousands of dollars daily, but a regulation provides that all proceeds must be turned into the headquarters of the Fair. Consequently there isn't any available cash for bonds, or anything else, except that which people have in their own pockets; and that isn't much.

This matter of having available currency for emergencies is quite serious. New York isn't much of a check-cashing city. In days gone by too many checks have bounced, and merchants are wary. Our neighborhood grocer only yesterday posted a notice that he will charge four cents per check hereafter for his courtesy in cashing it. This is a check-cashing agency on Broadway where money will be paid on checks if the individual has papers to identify himself, and the charge is one per cent, with a 25 cent minimum; and I have been told that too to him who attempts to pass worthless paper there, the agency having certain swift and sure means of making such a person rue his dishonesty.

Looking Backward

Reports from Ostend say the German attack on that city has been renewed and that enemy reinforcements are approaching. It is believed the city will be forced to surrender. English warships are near the Ostend harbor. A dispatch from Antwerp states that General Whitham, United States minister to Belgium, has protested to Germany about dropping of bombs from airships. St. Petersburg dispatches say the Russian army has won fresh victories and occupies the greater part of East Prussia.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Holmes returned to Appleton after vacationing at their Spider Lake cabin.

Louis Jarvis, 18, town of Deer Creek, was severely burned Tuesday when gasoline which had spilled on his shirt ignited. The gasoline spilled when he was pouring it into a tractor tank and was ignited when he lit a cigarette.

communistic in part. The New Deal attitude toward business is Fascist."

Walter E. Spahr, professor of economics at New York university, contended in another address that representative government in this country in the last seven years had become "mere nose counting."

"It is my considered opinion," he added, "that since 1932 no one procedure has been more characteristic than the nose counting of pressure groups and the dangling before them of promises and programs designed to catch their votes."

"This procedure is euphemistically called popular government, government for the forgotten man, a New Deal! It is nothing more than vote counting, a getting of laymen's answers to intricate questions in an effort to keep the politicians in power, a repudiation of the basic principles of good representative government, a new day for demagoguery, a government by politicians who rule in the name of the masses while they cheat them."

He contended the answer was to turn out all the office holders "who subscribe to the current characteristic doctrines of government."

The two professors are in that large company of citizens who feel that the time has come to thrust New Dealer's back into that oblivion from which they came to plague the country during the Roosevelt regime. In fact, that idea is permeating Washington, which is the last to admit that an administration can be wrong. That it is sweeping congress is evident from the reactions of house and senate to any Roosevelt proposal.—Davenport Daily News.

A Bystander In Washington

BY FRESTON GROVER

Washington—Of 10,000 young men between 18 and 25 who will be tried out by the government this year for possible service as air fighters, probably only 400 to 500 will become worthy combat fliers. The rest will fall by the wayside, most of them before they ever put hand to the controls of a fast army plane. However, the remainder, perhaps as many as

Grover

80 or 90 per cent will qualify as private pilots and become a potential "pool" to be drawn upon in an emergency.

Psychology tests will get some of them. Ground school examinations will take out more. Sickness, change of heart and other causes will eliminate some. From those who survive, the army will choose 600, or perhaps fewer.

Ninety to 95 per cent will have a college background. To prevent discrimination, the others may come up with no book learning at all. They probably won't get very far without at least a high-school education.

All these things and more come out as the army and the Civil Aeronautics authority get ready to put more fighting men in the air than we ever had before. They expect to take on a crop of 10,000 this year and others, year by year, until they get enough. It will take four years, perhaps longer.

Colleges that take on the ground school as part of their class work will be given $20 a student to provide facilities. The incoming student will have to shell out $40 for laboratory fees. He has to maintain himself. It is no all-expense job.

No Job Guarantee

When his preliminary training is finished the student will not be guaranteed a job. The army or navy may want him to take advanced training. In any event he will be part of the "pool" of trained pilots the government wants for national defense.

It will cost about $10,000 per student to carry them from air-ignition to the grade of army pilot. About $300 a student is allowed for the first year. This will qualify them as private pilots.

At present there are 26,000 fliers with some sort of a license. The government estimates only 5,000 are really first-grade fliers.

Robert H. Hinckley, a member of the Civil Aeronautics authority, says women may be admitted to the training. Hinckley agreed that a lot of people would consider money spent on women fliers as utterly wasted.

"But a lot of women would give you an argument on that," he said.

Nazi Mortality Rate

Hinckley thinks even 10,000 is a small crop.

Germany has 65,000 men between 18 and 25 years in training camps and is turning out 1,000 pilots annually. Of course, Germany under this high-pressure system is killing them off at the rate of about a minimum of three every two days, to a maximum figure that I have heard of 3,500 a year."

By use of psychological tests it is hoped to weed out many men before the expensive training begins, but so far nobody knows exactly what makes a good flier, or a poor one. Four psychologists and 22 universities are cooperating under the air school scheme to try to find out. "The air corps at Randolph field (the army's principal flying school) selects only the perfect physical specimens," says Hinckley. "They have had instances down there where an all-American football player could not learn to fly and a tap dancer did learn. But we do not know whether another tap dancer could or another all-American football player could not."

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

The whole world is jittery over that pact between Germany and Russia, but I have a feeling it makes the Germans and Russians more nervous than anybody else. They probably suspect each other more than ever now.

Anybody who gets Hitler's signature to a treaty knows it hasn't much value even as an autograph, and Stalin isn't exactly the fellow I'd go to for a binding signature either.

Still, you could have knocked England over with an umbrella, so it was no surprise. Those British diplomats sure do fumble the ball.

It looks as if the most conspicuous fellow in Waterbury, Conn., must be a city official who isn't under a prison sentence of from one to fifteen years. Tom Dewey may get all the headlines as a prosecutor, but Connecticut's got a top-flight one in this man, Hugh Alcorn.

They say in the nutmeg state that, when a man has to face prosecution by Alcorn, his friends just say, "Take your choice of confessing and getting 99 years, or fighting Alcorn and getting off with life."

Assembly Concurs in Dealers License Bill

Madison—The assembly reconsidered and concurred Monday, 66 to 20, in a senate bill licensing, bonding and regulating poultry dealers without an established place of business in counties in which they operate. It now goes to Governor Heil.

The measure would require a bond of $1,000 and payment of a license fee of $2 annually.

Trench warfare is thought by some to have originated in a battle at Corinth, Miss., during the Civil war.

Under the CAPITAL DOME

BY JOHN WINGAARD

Madison—A few days ago this column discussed the probable attitude of Wisconsin New Dealers toward Senator LaFollette's reelection.

Wingard

It is revealing, therefore, to make note of the remarks of Gustave J. Keller of Appleton, the chairman of the New Dealers in Wisconsin, on LaFollette. In his recent speech at Scandinavia Keller invited LaFollette to run on the Democratic ticket, as this column earlier suggested the Democrats would sooner or later.

Keller said: "I call upon the liberals of the state, in this Progressive center, whatever their prior affiliations may have been, to join us in our common cause. I call upon the Honorable Robert M. LaFollette . . . to continue his great service to humanity, to his state, to eliminate divisions in the liberal ranks, and to form a united, solid front. I ask him for service, unselfish and sacrificing, to come over to the Democratic party, the party of Roosevelt to carry on to victory the battle . . ."

THE CONCLUSION

But LaFollette and his followers in the Progressive party, which on the record of even last November's election is by no means a weak or ineffective minority, are unlikely to surrender everything they have built up.

If the Democrats want LaFollette and it is beginning to appear that they want him very badly, they will have to make some concessions. Such concessions, it is reasonable to assume, will include Democratic support for the Progressive candidate for governor. The Democrats, if Keller's idea has any backing other than his own, are admitting that they have no candidate of their own. Time will tell whether that analysis is realistic or not.

CONSERVATION PROBE

State sources close to the committee comes word that recommendation will be made in the report of the legislative committee which has been investigating the conservation department to continue the inquiry by the governor's departmental research bureau.

Note: Louis B. Nagler, chief investigator for the bureau, is reported to have little love for the present department or its heads. Tagler like Paul D. Kelletier who came here to testify against the department, lost his job there when the present administration head, H. W. McKenzie, was chosen.

ODDS AND ENDS

At least one person very close to Gov. Heil has been heard to complain earnestly about the Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance' advocacy of direct taxation. The most widely used direct tax in state government, it was pointed out, is the income tax.

William J. Campbell of Oshkosh, last fall a candidate for United States senator and a veteran Republican figure, is supposed to be one of the new advisors of the administration, according to Capitol gossip . . . Coalitionists are going ahead with plans for a state conference after the legislature adjourns, although they know no more of the probable date of that event than anyone else. James Kerwin, the Coalition committee chairman, continues to badger the Heil

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

QUESTION OF IMMUNITY

A medical colleague writes:

"I think you have packed a most valuable and sensible dissertation on health in the little pamphlet (The Seven Keys to Vite) and I'm quite certain that it touches upon many a point that most physicians know little or nothing about."

The medical colleague goes on to say that "if it were not for your column I'd still be babbling about 'resistance,' 'nerve energy' and 'nervous exhaustion,' as I believe most of the profession does."

Here is a bit of babbling by a health column colleague who keeps his stocks high with the old timers by stoutly supporting the quaint notion of taking cold from drafts, wet feet, change of temperature, chilling and the like. Urging people who go out for a swim to keep out of the water as much as possible, this refractory instructor says one investigator reported that remaining in ocean water 45 minutes reduced the body temperature as much as four degrees below normal. This, opines the health column writer, "certainly must reduce bodily resistance to infection of all kinds—summer colds, for instance," and adds that the warning against lounging around in wet bathing suits is especially important.

No one has proved or even deduced convincing evidence in support of the assumption that chilling of the body has any definite effect on immunity or susceptibility to any known infection. If Medicine is not Quackery under a cloak of "scientific" hokum, the mouthpieces of this childish notion should pipe down and clear the way for advance. By confusing their quaint fancies with scientific knowledge the babblers are retarding progress and making boastful "medical science" ridiculous.

All we know about "resistance" is that an individual has no immunity, a little immunity or enough to protect him against infection under ordinary circumstances. We have no scientific warrant for the fancy that chilling, fatigue or any such incidental factor can rob the individual of any specific immunity he may have against the disease in question.

If I enjoyed 45 minutes of ocean bathing or swimming or liked to sit around in my wet suit after coming out of the water, I'd do so and worry not at all over a hypothetical reduction of four degrees in my body temperature.

In the same article my industrious health column colleague, having shoed everybody out of the water and in under blankets or away from the vagrant deadly breeze, went at 'em while they were shivering under that on-slaught with the stern warning that exposure to the sun is not always healthful either.

Oh, well, probably there are a lot of old fogies who will not care much about swimming anyway.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Cellulose

What use and value is cellulose in the body? What is the best way to get enough in the system? (E. M.)

Answer—It is the woody fiber of various coarse vegetables and fruits. Not digestible. Fair amount of it promotes good digestion and provides desirable bulk in residue. If your diet includes at least two fresh vegetables, one fruit, and greens or salads daily you will get enough cellulose.

Potassium Chloride for Hay Fever
I have had more relief from the suggestion I found in your column (potassium chloride) than I ever got from any other hay fever remedy or treatment. It has made my summer enjoyable, for the first time in many years. (H. F. C.)

Answer—Anyway it can do no harm in any case. Take five grains of potassium chloride dissolved in a glass of water, three times a day for several days. If it gives any relief, the effect should be felt within twenty-four hours. Useless to continue it more than a week. But if relief is obtained, it is harmless to repeat the course of a few days every two weeks, or even to take it every day over many weeks. This has brought great relief in cases of allergic eczema, nasal polyposis and chronic sinusitis, as well as in hay fever.

Feeders Digest

I have been waiting three weeks or more for my copy of your new edition of Guide to Right Eating, or whatever the booklet about vitamins is to be called. (J. D. A.)

Answer—Your copy is probably on the way now. Printing repeatedly held up because I thought of this and that at the last minute. The booklet takes the place of the older ones called "Guide to Right Eating" and "Building Vitality" and "Vitamins and Vite"—the new booklet is called "FEEDERS DIGEST" and is about food exclusively. For copy sent twenty-five cent coin and I cent stamped envelope bearing your address.

Disinfection

In a reply to an inquiry did you or did you not say that boiling handkerchiefs, towels, etc., is not necessary when they have been prevalent in the family, as such clothes are sufficiently sterilized in the process of ironing? (E. A. G.)

Answer—That is what I believe. Ordinary washing with soap and water is sufficient disinfection for such clothes. Ironing practically sterilizes clothes. There is no more dependable all-around disinfectant than soap and water.

Virtually no difference in alkalinity—either may be regarded as "acid." In any case goats' milk is at least equal to cows' milk in many cases infants suffering with malnutrition thrive on goats' milk. Goats rarely or never suffer with tuberculosis; their milk is therefore free from tubercle bacilli, so often present in cows' milk. The flavor of goats' milk for the benefit of any one who may not have tried it, is at least equal to the flavor of cows' milk. Goats' milk is not richer nor more digestible than cows' milk. Family having one or more goats to provide milk, butter and even cheese for the family, is lucky, say I.

Hold Everything

Why don't you answer the plain question I sent in three weeks ago? I think your "health service" is a joke. (Anonymous Postcard)

Answer—Dr. Brady selects questions which he thinks suitable to answer here. If you expect an answer, inclose with your question or query a three-cent-stamped envelope bearing your address. No reply will be sent to anonymous initials. (Copyright, 1939)

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail; if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for "agnosis or treatment

Build Addition To Oneida School

District No. 4 Reclassified From Rural to State Graded

Beginning with the fall term, district No. 4 school in the town of Oneida will be operated as a state graded instead of as a rural school because of increased enrolment, according to Henry J. Van Straten, Outagamie county superintendent of schools. The change will provide employment for two teachers instead of one.

Reconditioning of the school to include a second room for teaching is being completed at a cost of $2,200. One wall has been moved out and the stage razed to increase the room. A new heating plant also is being installed.

An addition to the district No. 2 school in the town of Oneida also is being built this summer and will be completed before the fall term starts. Among the improvements are a new heating plant, a stage and a recreation room in the basement.

Minor improvements also have been made in a number of other rural schools in the county, such as painting and repairs to the heating systems, Van Straten reported.

Board Ruling on Ford Could Work as Curb on Whole Press

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Let me substitute a newspaper publisher for Henry Ford in the labor board case in which Ford is ordered to refrain from disparaging or criticizing labor unions and I will show you where this confused and arrogant nest of professional boss-baiters claims a right—indeed, even a duty—to censor any newspaper in the United States, and in conceivable circumstances, to censor them all at once. Just admit that a publisher in the same situation could be ordered to print neither news nor opinion which, in the board's own judgment, disparaged or criticized unions in general or any particular union and you make my case for me. Disparagement and criticism are among the principal products of the American nation, and Ford is better than a crude hand at such activity himself. He in turn, however, has been disparaged and criticized by experts, including some muscovite revolutionists whom the labor board now holds immune from counter-battery work by the Ford politico-editorial department.

The right of the press to disparage and criticize is no more sacred than Mr. Ford's, but it would point up the case to imagine the defendant in these proceedings as a newspaper publisher rather than a manufacturer. I want to show that this order is an act of censorship and for that purpose will assume that the Daily Bugle has been having a controversy with certain individuals who, by selected as the bargaining agents for the Bugle's staff.

Demands are discussed and the management makes certain concessions, but refuses to go further, whereupon the unionists, in speeches and in hand bills and pamphlets, disparage and criticize the Bugle. Some of this matter is truthful, for it is not beyond imagining that the management has some faults, but if the case be typical it must be allowed that much of it is twisted or false and in spots, scurrilous. Regardless of whether a strike ensues, the unionists determine to beat the publisher into submission by denouncing him as an enemy of labor and by union enactments binding all members of this union and its nation-wide family of affiliates to boycott not only the paper itself but all products advertised therein.

He'd Be Cited For Attempted Intimidations

The publisher claims that he is not an enemy of labor and wants to present his side of the dispute and repeat in print, short of libel and obscenity, the matter which has been uttered under union auspices against himself and his executives and those employees who preferred not to join the union. He wants to repeat this matter by way of showing the tactics which are used by the other side and to prepare the ground for an effort to refute. Accordingly, he prepares news reports in which he interviews himself and editorials weighing the arguments.

The labor board then in consistency with its order to Henry Ford and the concept of its duty revealed in that order, cites him for attempting to intimidate the help and commands him to print nothing more about it—with the generous concession, however, that he may print the union's case including total falsehoods and personal attacks. If he attempts to answer the personal attacks with counter-attacks on the methods, morals and personal history of those who are conducting the campaign against him, he is guilty of violating labor's right to organize by sowing suspicion of their leaders among the rank and file.

So the best the Daily Bugle can do is come out with a couple of blank columns in the news section and another in the editorial zone, with a little line over each reporting that this is where the Bugle would have told the public its own version of the facts and its own opinion of the controversy if the labor relations board had been so kind.

Pegler Says He Still Has Right to Speak Freely

Henry Ford's offense was that he presented to Ford employees his side of a dispute with the organizers of the C. I. O. automobile union, and gratuitously added his own opinion that it was inadvisable for the men to join. But, just as a published opinion, that document was not binding on the Ford employees. If Ford took further steps to make it binding, those steps, not the published opinion, would have constituted intimidation or interference. I do not assume that Mr. Ford told the truth entirely and without bias, and, quite aside from the fact that unionists frequently bruise the truth and boast of their bias and bile, I hold that he still has an equal right to speak or print his piece, subject to the ordinary penalties, which are disproof and discredit for misrepresentation and financial loss and imprisonment for libel.

Imagination need not strain to conceive a case in which the board might order the entire American press to suppress news and comment unfavorable to the union side in a fight involving a national organization with a local in every shop, lest members of these locals feel themselves coerced by their respective publishers.

Beauty and You

By PATRICIA LINDSAY

Sun worshippers like Judith Barrett must take every precaution to preserve the natural beauty of their skin.

Ever since you were a wee child you have been told that glycerin and rose water is an excellent protection against the chapping of winter winds. But I don't suppose you realize just how many beauty uses a bottle of good glycerin has. You may buy it at a drugstore and mix some very efficacious concoctions for yourself.

Mild Freckle Bleach
Those of you who play much out under the sun frequently come home with a fresh sprinkling of freckles. Right then is the time to mix up glycerin and lemon juice in equal parts and apply it to your face. It doesn't actually rid you of freckles but it dims them considerably.

About This Time You Wish
You hadn't allowed the sun to coat your hands with freckles and a deep tan. So you think of a bleach. Take one part of rubbing alcohol, one part of glycerin and two parts of lemon juice and shake it to gether vigorously. That my dears will make your hands a shade or two lighter if you use it daily for a week.

For Sun-Burn Feeling
To tone down a sun-reddened nose and smooth a peeling skin follow this simple routine. Bathe the skin in one pint of water to which has been added a heaping teaspoonful of epsom salts. Rinse in clear water and pat on glycerine diluted in warm water. Both the sting and redness will vanish, unless you are about in the sunstroke stage.

For Cracked Lips
If you have difficulty in getting your lipstick on smoothly you must do something to restore your lips' petal-like smoothness. Each night anoint them with the richest lubricating cream on which you can lay your hands. Then during the day at intervals, dab on with absorbent cotton some of the following mixture and allow it to dry on your lips—no licking it off even if it does taste and smell good! (This is also good for elbows—to soften them and whiten them.)

One ounce of rose water.
One-quarter ounce of witchhazel.
One-quarter ounce of glycerin.
Few drops of geranium oil.
Have your druggist mix it well together and pour into a bottle which you must shake each time before using.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

CHRISTENING QUESTIONS
Dear Mrs. Post: (a) If a baby is to be christened John Henry Smith, Jr., does the minister officiating include the Junior? (b) If a baby who has been baptized is adopted and its name is completely changed, does it have to be baptized again? (c) The religious faiths of the baby's real parents and the foster parents are the same.

Answer: (a) No. (b) Not unless it is baptized into a different faith. Its name would be changed legally by the act of adoption. When a woman marries she changes her name, but she is not rechristened.

When to Send Presents
Dear Mrs. Post: (a) Is it rude not to send a present to a shower party if one is not able to go? (b) If the invitation to the wedding reception is declined, does the invitation itself obligate one to send a present?

Answer: (a) If the one to be showered is a very dear friend or very near relative, one would naturally send a present. To one whom one knows less well, it would be very unusual to send anything. (b) One is never obligated to send a wedding present solely because of the obligation to a relative or very intimate friend remains, even if you can't go to the wedding.

A Young Grandmother
Dear Mrs. Post: I am a grandmother now, but I feel too young to be called "grandmother." And anyway I am sure the other mother will be called "granda." Perhaps my question is a far cry from etiquette, but I do wish you would suggest names that grandchildren could use for grandmothers who prefer, if possible, to be called something else. I do believe that comes under the heading of manners to teach children the proper names to say so they won't sound disrespectful to their elders.

Answer: Any diminutive of mother, which the child is not going to call his own mother—mumma, ma-sie, or any name he says, or any you like—or perhaps your own first name! This last is by no means unheard of.

The Clergyman's Visits
Dear Mrs. Post: When the clergyman comes to call repeatedly and leaves his card in our absence, is there any way that we are supposed to acknowledge his visit? We

Practice of Writing Notes Has Embarrassing Moments

By ANGELO PATRI

There comes a time in the life of every boy and girl when note-writing is a delightful pastime. The day is lost that brings no note from the chosen friend, usually, and rightly so, of the opposite sex. It seems a shame to throw cold water on what seems so innocent and so delightful a game, and yet, a dousing with cold water is just what it needs.

Boys and girls in this stage of growth are dreamy and vague and have no idea of what ails them. Consequently they have no means of protecting themselves from the mistakes these daily notes are likely to bring down on their heads. And it is a mistake to write to the girl of your choice, "I love you, I love you, I love you," ending with a marching army of X's. It really is a mistake. For the girl who writes such notes it is likely to become a most embarrassing mistake.

This age is not the age of discretion, and it is far from wisdom. The secret is such a charming one that it must be shared with one's dearest chum. The important fact, so often overlooked, is that this chum has a chum, or an intimate friend, and that delightful secret is shared, and before long it is the property of the whole community. Now writing, "You are my honey-sweet, my love, my darling," is one thing when done in the privacy of one's own heart and mind, but it is another, and a sadly different sort of thing, when the palpitating line is read aloud in your presence by the gray-headed and austere Head of the School. Imagine your feelings.

Imagine too, your feelings when you learn that your trusted idol has shown your note to that "nintimate friend." Don't be so sure that he won't, or that she won't. They ALL do. And they all grin, too, whether in embarrassment or derision, depends upon the time and the place and the feeling of both.

The worst thing about the whole pretty business is that the object of devotion is more than likely to be displaced by another soon. And then what? Get the notes back? Impossible. They are lost, or mislaid, and anyway the other person does not consider them important. He did not write them, you see.

Of course it is fun, but it is likely to be anything but fun before the end of the game. When you, a blushing adolescent boy or girl, feel impelled to write a note to the object of your heart interest, write it. It will relieve your mind. Then carefully tear it into little pieces and drop those pieces into oblivion.

Writing indiscriminately bears bitter fruit. Hold your pen long before you write a fond note to your heart's chosen. Wait until you see him face to face to say all you feel. Then you won't have to repent your reckless outpourings in the day of change and of separation. If you must speak to the absent one use the telephone. That annoys the family, but it puts some limit on your emotional expressions and saves your future chagrin. Don't write. Talk it out. Better yet, when you feel this coming over you pick out a job and bury yourself in it for a while. Nature is not to be fully trusted, Mr.

fourth heart with the spade ace. A fifth diamond was ruffed with the spade king (the opponents gasping their teeth as they impatiently had to undertrump). Now declarer's last heart was led toward dummy's remaining two cards, the spade ten and the club eight. West, with the jack and seven of trumps, could do nothing to shut out the spade filled despite the rather unusual fact that the declarer's fourth nine trumps to the declarer's four.

As I said above, however, I hardly think readers need take this remarkable occurrence too seriously. If I am not mistaken, this hand, or one almost identical, was devised and memorized some years ago.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

People can be sick in mind but they are not sick in body. Then the reverse is often true, where they feel blue and dejected, but perk up with proper medication for their anemia or low blood pressure and sluggish thyroid. There is a very fascinating relationship between mind and body. Notice Hugo's interesting case.

CASE O-127: Hugo T., aged 47, is an art salesman who used to be in my Business Psychology class. "I wish you'd give me a thorough physical examination," he said as he slumped down into a chair. "I'm all in. Ten years ago I was pronounced a diabetic.

"My mother died of diabetes in Norway, so I must have inherited it. I used insulin for awhile, but during the past few years I have managed to get along by watching my diet carefully.

"But now I feel so rotten, I am afraid I can't last much longer. I can hardly drag myself around, and I'm not averaging $12 per week in commissions.

"Dr. Crane, would you give me a thorough examination today?"

DIAGNOSIS:
Hugo certainly looked dejected and somewhat disheveled. He had given up, for he was almost reconciled to the fact that death was just around the corner.

Without a knowledge of medicine, one might have been tempted to agree with Hugo. But his symptoms did not fit into the picture of the extreme acidosis of a serious diabetic condition.

I questioned him further and found that he had none of the classical symptoms, such as excessive hunger, exaggerated thirst or polyuria. His pulse and respiration were normal.

"I'll run a blood sugar and urinalysis on you," I finally agreed.

"But I am convinced that your trouble is not with your pancreas but with your mind. You don't have a single symptom of diabetes now, and will doubtless live to a ripe old age if you are temperate in your eating."

Defeatism and Frustration
Then I began some psychological probing and found that Hugo not only was barely earning enough to pay for a cheap room and meals, but he was in debt, and seriously needed $200.

"I have 15 acres of land about 10 miles east of Gary, Indiana, with a 4-room house on it," he said, "but I cannot borrow any money for the bankers there say they will not lend such a small sum, although my place is worth $1,500.

"I went to several loan agencies in Gary but they said it would cost $50 to amortize the place and arrange for the loan, and they refused to put me to that expense for such a small loan."

"One of the heads of the FHA told me it would mean only $8 to him if he put the loan through, and it wasn't worth it. Dr. Crane, where can a man go to borrow money when he has real estate that is admittedly valuable? My place is free of all encumbrances."

Our Financial Paradox
I isn't my purpose today to dwell upon the financial paradox of banks with money to lend, and modest wage earners who sorely need small loans, but are denied them at a reasonable 6 or 7 per cent interest rate, so they are forced to borrow at 42 per cent interest from our "314 per cent month" loan agencies.

The point of my column today is that when I reassured Hugo that his trouble was not organic, and told him to come back next week when I'd try to put him in touch with a person who would take a mortgage on his real estate, he packed up immediately.

Next Saturday he returned, with his chin up, and full of pep. He had earned $27 in commissions that week, and felt like a winner, though I hadn't given him any medicine or even checked his blood and urine for sugar. The mind exerts a powerful influence for health as well as happiness.

Dr. Crane will give personal attention to questions of mental problems. Write him, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a 3-cent stamped address and return envelope. Letters and readers' names are never published.

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

By Marie Blizard

YESTERDAY: Doug, Cecily's twin brother, arrives on Cape Cod, and tells her that their lawyer committed suicide because he plunged with their money. They are flat, stony broke.

Chapter Three
Plans For The Future
"Somehow you've got to go on at medical school," said Cecily. "And oh, Doug! I have it! Now just tell me you don't believe in Providence! There was a man here today who told Libby he wanted to rent our house for the summer for six hundred dollars!"

"He did? That's great. That'll pay off the bills on the place and go to Tracy's wedding."

"...and Libby said she wanted to go to Tracy's wedding husband has bought a trailer. Now we get a fresh start. Let's think about you. Why, this is going to be easy!"

Doug walked away and looked out the window. He put his hands in his pockets, drew them out, folded his arms and cleared his throat. Cecily recognized all these signs. Doug was getting ready to tell her something that he didn't want to tell her.

"Come on," she said. "Out with it."

"Gee, Cecily, I hate to tell you. But... but don't think I'm going to take it."

"Take what?"

"Well, I had lunch today with Dr. Kendall—Dr. Kendall had brought her maid about everything, and he made me an offer. His kids want to go to medical school and they aren't even in college. He offered me a job. The family is going to France for the summer and he wants me to tutor the boys. Says if I can get them into college and keep them there, he'll set me up to medical school."

Cecily felt as though the bottom had dropped out of her world. She could face a stress situation but not alone, with Doug gone.

"It sounds wonderful to me," she said weakly when she found her voice.

"Well, it's out. I'm not leaving you."

Oh, Doug, she thought, you're the same little boy who wouldn't leave me in the woods the day I got caught in a trap and you were so scared of the dark. I owe you something for that.

Aloud, she said in a matter-of-fact voice, "You certainly are! You're going to send a telegram tonight to Dr. Kendall and don't think I'm being sacrificial. I'm delighted. You know, Doug"—she continued as though she hadn't even pained surprise on his face—"I've been doing a lot of thinking this winter. Now, I don't want to hurt your feelings."

"Shoot," he invited, when she paused.

Supreme Gesture
She took a quick breath and was quite obvious about it. It was in her hand something that she had wanted very much to say and had heretofore lacked the courage to say. She began: "I've been thinking about you. You know we aren't kids any more, Doug. Of course, it was grand fun while it lasted but lately I've been thinking about other things. Perhaps I should say other people. I don't think we see enough of them."

She looked at Doug from under her lowered lids to see how her little speech was going over.

"After all, I am a girl and I really ought to get out and meet... well, beaux and things. I ought to... I ought to go to parties."

"Why didn't you say so before? I thought you always enjoyed this as much as I do." Doug's hurt was there but it was lessening and Cecily knew that he was relieved.

Why shouldn't he be? She thought reasonably. He was to be a doctor and was getting a chance of a lifetime and I'm going to see that he takes it.

"Oh, I did," she said lightly. "But, Doug, even Libby notices that I like old dungarees and sweaters better than party dresses. I mean that I did."

"That is a fine time to want to go social," he said morosely.

But, but it is! she returned gayly. "It's the best time in the world. Opportunity knocks but once."

Doug favored her with a perplexed glance and shook his head sadly. "I always heard that girls were cracked but I thought you were the exception to the rule. I break the news that we are broke and you turn into a party girl, wanting beaux, and party dresses. One of us is crazy."

"You just don't get the point. I offered these things. Aunt Olivia wrote me only today that she was planning a big season and wants me to go to Vickersport."

"Olivia! If Cecily had said she had been invited to join a circus as a snake-charmer, Doug couldn't have put more horror into his remarks than when he mentioned the name of his estimable aunt. "That madhouse? And you want to go?"

Cecily made her supreme gesture. Gallantly she said, "I certainly do and now I can write her tonight. You see, Doug? Things are never as bad as they seem."

"Proud Mistress"
Hilda Froman asked and wrote: Shakespeare—two complete sets.

Cecily wrote: Cather—Death Comes for the Archbishop, Shadows on the Rock, Lucy Gayheart. Then she said, "Bought the second one at a bargain and couldn't resist." A few minutes later she said, "Hilda, I'm starved. Let's leave this until after we've had some food. We can run across the street and get a bite."

Hilda stole a surreptitious glance at the old-fashioned clock. It was five minutes to nine and the girls had been cataloging Cecily's books since five. She was hot—it was an early June night—and she was hungry, but she said lightly, "Oh, there's time enough for that. We'll be through here in a few minutes. There's only the Mystery shelf on this side."

Book-shelves lined the living-room on Cecily's modest apartment in Jane Street in Greenwich Village, which Hilda was gladly taking over for the sum of sixty dollars a month. Cecily intended to hoard that little sum, which was clear profit since the rent had been paid until September. Cecily had often said as much as a hundred dollars for a tailored suit without thinking of the price. Tonight she thought of the hundred and twenty which was all the capital she would have

Work Can be Women's Greatest Blessing, Miss Dix Believes

By DOROTHY DIX

Is the cure for what ails the modern, dissatisfied, unhappy, restless woman? Work? It is idleness and not some obscure disease that fills her with torments and packs doctors' offices with neurotic women? It is having nothing else to do except to count their own heartbeats that sends so many women to Reno?

DOROTHY DIX

A man who is married to one of these lilies of the field, who toils not and neither does she spin anything except complaints, believes that it is, she thinks that what's the matter with women is not having a job that keeps them on the jump and doesn't give them time to brood over and magnify their minor and major ills.

He says: "My wife and I are an average well-to-do couple with no children. I make plenty of money and am a good provider. I keep a nice home with all the house-keeping gadgets, servants, her own car, everything to make life easy and comfortable for her. Yet she isn't happy or satisfied, although she says she loves me and has no fault to find with me as a husband."

"She is in good health, yet she is depressed and makes a gloomy companion. She takes no interest in anything. Doesn't want to go places. People bore her. She has no enthusiasm or vim and gets no kick out of life."

"Half a dozen of my friends have wives just like mine. The doctors call 'em neurotics,' but it is not nerves that is the matter with them. What they need is hard, manual work, such as Grandmother had to do every day of her married life. A big house to take care of, kids to wash and dress and feed, with no pre-schools to take them off her hands, and no new inventions, like electric washing machines and gas stoves, to lighten her labor."

"Of course, I haven't the nerve even to suggest to my wife the remedy that I feel sure would cure her. For what she, and thousands of other American women need to make them strong and hardy, and glad they are alive is just WORK, and plenty of it."

No one can doubt the correctness of this husband's diagnosis of this peculiar affliction that so many middle-aged women have and that makes them either go anywhere or become human wet blankets who are damp, moist, unpleasant bodies with whom to have to live. The malady generally manifests itself just after the youngest child is married and gone away and they are left with a big empty house and nothing to do. Up to then they have been busy, well and happy; helping their husbands get a start in business, having babies, nursing the measles, seeing school girls and boys through adolescence, bringing daughters out in society, getting them married.

Then, when it is all over and they have nothing to do except to be happy, they are miserable. Then it is that they develop strange symptoms and become the answer to the doctor's prayer for his daily cake; or they start a shoppe; or take up a new religion; or they decide that their husbands do not understand them and that some other man does and they get divorced; or they just become melancholy and listless.

And it is all just because they need some good, hard, manual labor. The Good Book tells us that work was sent as a curse on mankind. Maybe so. But work is women's greatest blessing.

Keep Love Clean
And Unshamed
Dear Miss Dix—I am in love with a girl, but she is in love with a married man who has a family. I might mention that this girl is also married.

Then, when it is all over and they have nothing to do except to be happy, they are miserable. Then it is that they develop strange symptoms and become the answer to the doctor's prayer for his daily cake; or they start a shoppe; or take up a new religion; or they decide that their husbands do not understand them and that some other man does and they get divorced; or they just become melancholy and listless.

And it is all just because they need some good, hard, manual labor. The Good Book tells us that work was sent as a curse on mankind. Maybe so. But work is women's greatest blessing.

THE HOME GARDENER
by EDWIN H. PERKINS

With bulb planting time just around the corner, it is well to recall some of the factors which help create successes in the bulb garden. Fertile soil is, of course, a big factor. Drainage is another. Mulching, depending on the locality, is still an open question. In the north, mulches over bulbs may be required, while they would have disastrous results if used over tulips planted in gardens in more temperate regions. It is safe to say that mulches should never be used until after the ground has frozen after planting bulbs.

Whenever a mulch is used it should be removed in the spring before the foliage becomes heated under a warm spring sun. Much of the stem rot found in bulb gardens is brought about by failure to remove the mulch at the proper season.

The depth to which bulbs are planted is one of the most important factors in their success. If planted too deeply, the plants do not make suitable top growth, and if planted too shallow, they freeze and do not live to begin growth. Good general depths for bulb planting have been determined and are given as follows: Plant amonies three inches deep and four to six inches apart; crocus, snowdrops and scilla four inches deep and three inches apart; jonquils, five inches deep and six inches apart; tulips five inches deep and four inches apart; narcissus six inches deep and six to twelve inches apart; all lilies, except Lilium candidum, six inches deep and twelve or more inches apart.

on her return to New York in the autumn.

Listening for footsteps, Hilda said, "My, but this is an imposing list. And to think I am to be the proud mistress of it all!" she read from the notebook in her hand:

"Two fireplace lounges, two leather chairs, two wicker chairs, one chintz-covered chair; seven hundred and sixty-four books including Mystery, Adventure, Novels, Travel, Classics, one Cook-book, three Sailing Manuals, a Complete Course in Carpentry and The Loves of Casanova. I certainly ought to learn something this year!"

Continued tomorrow.

My Neighbor Says—
It is a very good rule to cut away the shoots of rose bushes that have flowered early in Autumn, then very little pruning is necessary in the Spring. The general aim should be as far as possible to encourage the development of strong, healthy growth and this can be done only by the removal of all weak shoots.

6 City Accounts Show Overdrafts Totalling $19,867

Part of Money Returnable Through Special Assessments

With only seven months of the year gone, six of the city's general fund accounts show overdrafts totalling $19,867.52, according to the monthly report of the city comptroller.

However, four of the overdrafts including those for new sewers, $1,692.28; paving and graveling, $8,093.31; oiling, $8,118.31 and sidewalks, $714.12, are returnable to the general fund through special assessments.

The relief budget of $40,000 has been depleted and shows an overdraft as of July 31 totalling $319.63. Last November when the city council set the relief budget at $40,000, it was anticipated the city would have to borrow to pay relief costs during the last part of the year.

A total of $120,745.21 remains in city coffers to operate on until the first of the year compared to $444,704.57 set up by the council for operation this year. Total costs of city operation since the budget was adopted are $236,132.06.

Although the city faces the certainty of borrowing some money on which to operate before the new budget is set up, many of the major expenditures for the year have been made, which gives the council a chance to come out somewhere near even. Street work, including grading, graveling, oiling and installation of catchbasins has been mostly completed. However, the city faces a further overdraft in the snow removal account.

The contingency fund was used up in the construction of the new city hall and only $542.16 remains in that fund. The city will have to borrow to cover any other overdrafts which appear before the end of the year.

Fund Balances

General fund balances include: mayor and aldermen, $4,905.35; official printing, $1,071.57; interest on bank balance, $507.79; city treasurer, $1,620.74; city clerk, $1,901.77; assessor and board of review, $2,260.68; attorney, $941.52; claims, $531.09; elections, $268.84; engineer, $2,913.23; recreation, $911.12; bridge repair and maintenance, $4,096.01; dumps and clean-up, $3,159.27.

Equipment repair and operation, $3,367.17; new equipment, $38.06; sewer and catch basin maintenance, $1,280.63; street department building operation, $570.32; street cleaning, $4,526.93; street repair and maintenance, $6,065.12; weed cutting, $1,071.57; street lighting, $12,856.45; ground rental, $375; plumbing inspector, $664.85.

Dewey, Political Leaders Confer

New York's Racket Busting District Attorney Visits Old Home

Owosso, Mich., (P) — Politics caught up today with Thomas E. Dewey, New York's racket-busting district attorney, vacationing at his mother's home.

Dewey received a visit from Barak Mattingly, state Republican chairman of Missouri, who arrived here last night. The two were closeted in a midnight conference but neither would discuss the conversation.

Members of his party disclosed that Dewey would prolong his visit until Saturday in order to receive representatives of the Illinois state central committee and the Cook county (Chicago) Republican committee. The meeting is to take place in Lawry in the southwestern corner of the state, where Dewey will be entertained by Leonard C. Reid, a cousin in whose Chicago law office he studied.

Dewey could not say who else would visit him. Earlier he had told reporters that "a few people" from Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska "indicated they'd like to see me while I'm here."

Dewey said he planned to do some speech-making next fall. Asked if the speeches would be political in nature, he replied, "possibly."

Yesterday he visited a farm where he worked as a hired hand the summer he was 16, and later had a round of golf with Owosso neighbors.

Mooney said that at the time Governor Culbert Olson pardoned him early this year, "The governor said he was convinced Billings was equally innocent."

Scouts From Washington, D. C., Visit City on Nation-Wide Tour

Completing 12,000 miles of a 16,000 mile nation-wide tour, eight Washington D. C. boy scouts stopped in Appleton Sunday to spend the night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Winterfeldt, 322 N. Richmond street.

When the scouts return to Washington they will have travelled through 35 states and several provinces of Canada, seen both world fairs and over twenty national parks. All members of Troop 24, Washington, the boys have handled all the plans and expenses of the trip which will cost them only $150 each, about two dollars a day for the 76 day trip.

They are making the tour in a well equipped station wagon financed by one of the boys' father. The station wagon will be sold at the end of the trip and the boys will have constructed a baggage rack under the direction of expert cabinet makers. In this they carry complete camping equipment for eight, including an eight cot tent, which they use only when it rains, blankets, rods, cooking equipment, first aid, tools, and their own lighting equipment. The car carries a load of one ton.

Cold no hardship. Clad in khaki shorts, the boys were little impressed with Appleton's week-end cold wave. Only two weeks ago they celebrated a day of winter in western Canada, at Waterton Lakes, Alberta, sleeping in their unheated tent while it snowed outside all night. Experiencing extremes in temperature, the boys also camped in the Great American desert where daytime temperatures of 132 degrees dropped to 46 degrees after sun down.

Camping out every night and cooking their own meals, they had plenty of opportunity to call into play all to the arts of scouting. Three of the boys will qualify for eagle rank at the end of the tour as a result of having passed tests for 21 merit badges.

Calling it the most extensive tour ever taken by any troop, John D. Chandler, their 23 year old leader, explained that it was an experimental venture about which he plans to write a pamphlet to be used as a guide for other scouts who will make similar tours in the future. None of the boys have ever travelled before and they were very much pleased to discover on visiting Indian reservations that tales popular in the East of the Indians' ferocity and scalping activities are entirely myths.

The boys were met in Appleton by Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Last, parents of one of their number, Frank Last. Mr. and Mrs. Last drove out from Washington to meet the boys and to visit friends here. The Lasts were formerly residents of Shiocton. Mr. Last's parents are Black Creek residents.

Farm Meetings to Be Sponsored by State Milk Pool

Steps to Get Higher Price For Product Will Be Discussed

Arrangements for a statewide farm meeting at Black Creek Sunday are being completed this week by a committee of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk pool which is sponsoring the event.

"How much longer are we going to accept low milk prices?" is the question that will be discussed by farm leaders, according to Ray Retzlaff, chairman of arrangements. No political speeches will be given at the meeting, Retzlaff said.

Several thousand dairy farmers are expected to attend the meeting to discuss possible steps to raise the present low price for milk which is one of the biggest complaints of farmers in Outagamie county and throughout the state.

The meeting will be held in the village park and members in attendance will make an all-day affair of it and bring basket lunches. Refreshments will be served at the park.

The Outagamie county unit of the milk pool is assisting in arrangements for the fair.

Broughton Says Elks' Welfare Program Has Received New Impetus

Sheboygan (P)—C. E. Broughton, chairman of the crippled children's commission of the Wisconsin Elks State association declared today that this had been one of the banner years in work accomplished for the underprivileged and disabled.

Broughton's statement was made as he left for the state Elks convention in Wausau.

The commission will submit its annual report to the convention on Friday. It shows, Broughton said, a 100 per cent increase in activities among state lodges.

The commission, created in 1927, has built up a fund of several thousand dollars, and paid out other thousands in a cooperative plan to benefit cripples and provide the ways and means for boys and girls to regain a foothold and take their place in gainful occupations.

"It is one of the bright spots in Elksdom," Broughton said, "and time goes on every member in the order will share in these fruitful dividends."

The commission is composed of Broughton, Howard T. Ott of Milwaukee, Dr. W. J. Ganser of Madison, E. W. Mackey of Manitowish, and Sidney M. Jones of Kenosha.

City Engineer to Tabulate Coal Bids On Winter's Supply

Bids on coal to heat city owned buildings this winter were referred to the city engineer for tabulation by the board of public works at a meeting Tuesday in city hall.

The board voted to order the plumbing inspector and the building inspector not to grant permits for new work if roof drain spouts lead into the sanitary sewer system. The board believes that much of the trouble experienced by property owners because of flooded basements could be eliminated if the down spouts lead to lawns instead of the sewers.

No action was taken on the Buchholz Sanitary district request for a contract giving it permission to use city sewerage and disposal facilities.

Fair and Warmer, Weatherman Says

Clouds Gather Over City Again Today; Thermometer at 72

Today's weather was almost an exact duplication of yesterday's—clear morning and cloudy afternoon—but the weatherman came out with a clean-cut prediction of fair and warmer for tomorrow.

Fair and warmer weather would not disappoint people of Appleton and vicinity, for the last few days the sky has been uncommonly gloomy and the temperature cold enough to stir many furnaces out of their summer idleness.

The thermometer registered 72 degrees at 12:30 this afternoon. For the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 78, recorded at 12:30 yesterday afternoon, and the lowest 57, according to the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. Rain-fall during the 24 hours measured .15 of an inch.

Phoenix, Ariz., with 104, and Bismarck, N. D., with 41, stood at the top and bottom respectively of the nation's weather chart yesterday.

Name Committees For Dog Show at Meeting of Club

Annual Event Will be Held Sunday, Sept. 10,
In Fond du Lac

Neenah — Committees for the second annual dog show to be sponsored by the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club Sunday, Sept. 10, at Fond du Lac, were named at a meeting last night at Fond du Lac. The show will be held in the Fond du Lac county highway department garage building on Dixie street. More than 40 members attended the meeting.

The committees are as follows: Stewards, Oliver Schafer, Milwaukee, chief; Stanley Whittaker, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Kari Huntz and Stanley Weiner, Oshkosh, and Walter Piper, Sheboygan.

Obedience class: Dr. L. H. Dillon, Appleton, chairman; Carlton Windhauser, Oshkosh, and Herbert Hafeman, Menasha; gate, Otis Hayes, Neenah, chairman; catalog, Elmer Homuth, Fond du Lac, chairman; national dog week booth, John and Paul Becker, Neenah, chairman.

Judging Inside
Arrangements were made to keep the obedience classes in the show building, giving these classes ample room for judging. It was pointed out that at most shows there isn't room for these classes to be judged inside the show building.

A large attendance is expected at the show, and provisions will be made to serve plate lunches at noon and evening so that the spectators as well as the exhibitors will not have to leave the show.

The next meeting of the club will be held Sept. 26 in the community rooms of the Neenah National Manufacturers bank building.

It Is Said--
That E. G. Miller, Menasha recreational leader, had an exciting baseball game underway Tuesday at the Seventh street playground. There was no score for either side when the Menasha fire trucks went by on a run to Jefferson street. Just that fast the ballgame was over and Miller was alone at the playground.

That some boys living on DePere street, Menasha, had a nice watermelon patch. The other night they decided to engage in the popular sport of "cooning" apples but they were caught and were ordered to report to the police station for a reprimand. When they got home they found that someone else had decided to go "cooning" that night and had made a clean haul at the melon patch.

That while the city fathers of Neenah and Menasha seriously debated the respective merits of various solutions to the boulevard problem, how that action has started his fling. This morning when Menasha street department employees arrived to continue removal of the Menasha section of the boulevard they found placards with signs "54-40 or tight" and "Who's crazy?" The workmen continued to remove the boulevard.

Schedule Meeting To Plan Fox Valley Loop Title Series

Officials Will Meet Tonight at Falcons Hall
To Arrange Details

Menasha — Plans for the Fox Valley league championship playoff will be made Wednesday night at a meeting at Falcons hall. Details for the 3-game series will be arranged by Frank Warner, Appleton, president of the league; Al Whitney, business manager of the Kimberly team, and Artie Buzanowski, manager of the Menasha Falcons.

The Kimberly Papermakers won the first half title with eight straight victories under the direction of Manager Butch Thein. The second half, however, the Papermakers won only four games and lost four.

The Falcons were kicked around the first half, winning one game and losing six. They came back strong to clinch the second half title with six straight victories and then dropped the final contest to Little Chute last Sunday in which the entire lineup of the team was juggled around with Badger Nadelny, shortstop, finally taking the mound.

Kimberly Bolstered

Home Building at Neenah in Sharp Drop This Month

Revival During Remainder of 1939 May Bring Industry Over Last Year

Neenah — While a new record in home building still may be made this year in Neenah, the building industry has declined slightly so far this year in comparison to 1938, and the large decrease during August is accountable for the drop.

Until yesterday, the valuation of new construction authorized in Neenah totaled $223,913, a decrease of $9,188 in comparison to the corresponding period of 1938. The valuation for that period amounted to $232,101.

Until this month, the building industry in Neenah far surpassed that of any year since 1931, but unless there should be an unusually large increase during the remainder of this month, August's decrease will drag the year's total below that of last year.

The cause for the $9,000-decrease during the first 10 months of this year is August's decline of $81,217 under that of the same month of last year. So far this month, 17 permits, including 4 new homes, have been granted with a construction valuation of only $16,610, while during the first 21 days of August, 1938, 20 permits, including 9 new homes, were issued with a construction valuation of $97,827. Accounting for the large amount was the new First Methodist church, costing $43,000, and the Boys' Brigade gymnasium, valued at $20,000.

65 Homes Last Year
Building industry in 1938 climbed to nearly a $1,000,000 industry, and an all-time record was established in the building of new homes, for 65 dwellings were erected.

If the building industry in Neenah increases during the next four months of this year in proportion to that of the first eight months another new record will be established.

This supposition also applies to the construction of new homes. So far this year, there have been 48 new dwellings erected in the city, while during the corresponding period of 1938, there were only 35 new homes, but by the end of the year there were 65, a new mark.

Although there has been a decrease in home building so far this month, there were large gains during the first seven months. The months of April when 10 homes were built, May when 16 dwellings were erected, June when five homes were constructed and July when 10 dwellings were erected, were the leaders.

Revival After Depression
With the exception of the last three years, the number of homes built in Neenah so far this year already exceeds the total for any year since 1931. Forty-four new homes were built during 1931, the first year that records were maintained. The depression drove the building industry into the doldrums the following year and only 23 homes were built. Building continued on the decline during 1933 and 1934 when 18 and 15 homes respectively were erected. As the depression subsided, building staged a complete reversal, and during 1935 the number of new homes climbed to 39. In 1936, there was an increase of 15 new dwellings, 54 homes being built, and although a recession temporarily stifled building in 1937, there were 52 new homes built.

During the first seven months of this year, there were substantial increases in the valuation of construction each month with the exception of two, March and June. The decrease during March amounted to $10,850 and during June it was only $59. The increases were as follows: January $9,400, February $9,595, April $13,290, May $32,545, June $30,974, and July $19,100.

The valuations for each month this year, number of permits and the number of new homes are as follows: January $9,450, seven permits, one home; February $14,745, five permits, one home, March $6,625, eight permits, one home; April $41,420, 22 permits, 10 homes; May $66,695, 44 permits, 16 homes; June $30,915, 36 permits, five homes; July $37,453, 29 permits, 10 homes, and August $16,610, 17 permits, four homes.

There has been an increase amounting to 21 in the number of plumbing permits, while there has been a slight decrease in the number of heating permits, the decline amounting to only four. There have been 92 plumbing and 61 heating permits granted this year. There have been large increases in the number of electrical, sewer and sign permits, the first amounting to 10, the second to 48 and the third to four. There have been 145 electrical, 84 sewer and nine sign permits issued this year.

Neenah Man to Erect Small Home for $790
Neenah — Although the dwelling to be erected for John Nelson on Roosevelt street may not be the smallest or the most economical in Neenah, it will be close to it.

The home will cost $790, according to the permit for construction which was granted today by John Blenker, assistant city building inspector, it will be 20 by 24 feet. It will consist of three rooms and a future bathroom. The 1-story frame structure will be built on posts for foundation. The Lieber Lumber and Millwork company is the contractor.

A permit also was granted to Mrs. Anna Matheson, 524 Church street, to remodel her home at a cost of $80, and another permit was issued to the Lieber Lumber and Millwork company to build a garage on its property at a cost of $200. The garage will be 12 by 20 feet.

MovieLand Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Honolulu, U.S.A. — Dear Staff: Shop owners of Hawaii have a charming custom, to wit: If you ask a question they don't wish to answer, they merely say: "Me no spikkee English."

It's a little like a gangster's "I ain't talking, see?" but far more genteel. Now, I was thinking, wouldn't it be a swell idea for movie stars to borrow this custom from Hawaii? Let me illustrate, an imaginary interview with Kay Francis and the press:

Reporter: "Did you like yourself as a heavy in your last picture?" Kay: "Yes, I rather enjoyed the unique privilege of assuming the cloak of villainy for a change." Reporter: "For more than two years."

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go!
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." PUFFINS SHED PARTS DEAKS
Among the birds which live inside the Arctic Circle are snowy owls. Their feathers sometimes are almost pure white. Snowy owls make nests on the ground, building them from sticks or grass, or both. An interesting thing about these birds is their power of seeing well in the daytime. Most kinds of owls hunt only at night, but snowy owls hunt while the sun is shining. If they did not do that, they could not live through the long sunshine-filled summer of the Arctic.

A puffin, one of the more common Arctic birds.

Some snowy owls are known to fly southward for the winter. They are seen from time to time in southern Canada and in northern parts of the United States. Their food is made up of fish, rabbits, waterfowl and the small furry animals called "lemmings."

Another Arctic bird is the puffin. Its coat is usually partly black, partly white. One kind has yellow feathers in place of white. Puffins also have the name of "sea parrots." They spend a great deal of their time over water, looking for fish and other food.

When puffins come to land, they do so in order to make nests for their young. They gather in large colonies on islands inside the Arctic Circle. Only one egg, white or nearly white, is laid in each nest. The young are covered with black down.

An odd thing about the puffin is its custom of shedding parts of its bill each year, in much the same way a deer sheds its antlers. The bill is brightly colored. It may be red and yellow, or red, yellow and blue.

Puffins are awkward when they walk, or waddle, on land. They fly well, and are expert swimmers and divers. In winter they have been seen as far south as Long Island, N. Y., but they always nest far in the north.

Another, and more famous, bird of the Northland is the Arctic tern. It is noted because of the extremely long flights it makes from season to season.

Terns are relatives of seagulls, and are mainly water birds. There are more than 50 kinds of terns, but of them all the Arctic tern makes the longest flights.

Think of birds which build nests inside the Arctic Circle and which then fly southward to Argentina! Arctic terns do that. It is figured that some of them travel 11,000 miles southward, then 11,000 miles northward inside a single year.

Ambers Wins in Vicious Battle

Stage Set for Welter Fight; Henry Penalized for Low Blows

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK.—(P)—The stage was set today for a welter-weight championship fight Nov. 1 between Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers, but there was divided opinion among the 29,088 fans who saw Ambers regain his lightweight crown from Armstrong last night as to the merit of the setting.

Ambers won the unanimous decision at the end of 15 rounds of toe-to-toe and head-to-head mauling at Yankee stadium. The welter-weight title bout hinged on an Ambers victory, all of which worked out very nicely for Promoter Mike Jacobs, but caused no end of dispute among ringsiders as to just who was entitled to the verdict.

It was that kind of fight—two little men with big hearts meeting round after round in the center of the ring and throwing gloves everywhere, which, on Armstrong's part, included low.

In fact, the low blows swung the decision toward Ambers. Five rounds were taken away from the dusky hurricane on that account. The Associated Press score card gave six rounds to Armstrong and nine to Ambers, the latter including those won on low punches. Ambers might have won some of these on his merits, but the fact remains there were enough taken away from Armstrong to swing the decision.

Sustained Action
Although lacking the knockdown thrills of their earlier meeting, the scrap would be difficult to match for sheer sustained action and merciless punishment inflicted by bobbing heads and flailing fists.

Armstrong started to bleed from a cut eye in the third round. Ambers' eye brow crimsoned in the fourth, and from that point on it was the gory spectacle of one man wrestling, slugging and pushing and mauling in their own blood, neither conceding a thing.

Neither fighter appeared in serious trouble at any time. Ambers often would take Armstrong's best punches with hands down, bobbing and ducking and grinning through it all.

The second, fifth, seventh, ninth and 11th rounds were taken from Armstrong because of low blows. The irony of it was that little "peppery motion" turned out to be his best rounds later after the fight apparently already had been lost.

Ambers said later he was hurt on a couple of occasions, but couldn't recall just when they were. The low blows, he said, did not bother him much. Armstrong complained of what he claimed were Ambers' thumbing tactics, pointing to swollen and inflamed eyes as proof. His manager, Eddie Mead, was outspoken in his criticism of Ambers' tactics, and threatened to have no part of the welterweight championship fight, contracts for which already have been signed.

The net receipts last night were $110,396.55.

Greyhound, Astra Appear at Badger State Fair Today

Champion Trotter to Try For Mile Record in Exhibition Run

MILWAUKEE.—(P)—Harness racing enthusiasts were offered a program today at Wisconsin's state fair which included appearances by Greyhound, seven-year-old world champion trotter, and Peter Astra, the 1939 Hambletonian winner.

Greyhound, from the stables of Sep Palin of Indianapolis, will attempt to lower his world record of 1:55 1/5 in a mile exhibition run.

Peter Astra will run against a speedy field in the free-for-all trot which includes such entries as Rosalind, Ben White's Hambletonian champion of a few years ago and regarded second only to Greyhound in the trotting class.

Palin scored his second victory in two days of grand circuit harness racing yesterday when he drove his chestnut gelding, Basil Hanover, home in front in all three heats of the 2:24 class trot in 2:06, 2:06 1/2 and 2:08 1/2.

Thomas Berry, of Lexington, Ky., guided his Sir Walter, a bay gelding, to victory in the three-year-old trot with firsts in all three heats. His times were 2:07 1/2, 2:06 1/2 and 2:04 1/2, the latter the track low mark of the year.

Lovely Lady Second
Lovely Lady, the 1938 world champion pacing mare over the half-mile distance, owned by H. F. McNutt of Oxford, Wis., finished second with Shaw up in 2-2-4. Tom Berry's Leemite, a brown colt with Murrill up, placed 3-3-2 for third position.

Miss Pluto Scott, a bay mare owned by Gus Paceman of Manitowish, Wis., raced home first in all three heats to take the 2:20 pace for Wisconsin horses. With Clark driving, her times were 2:04 1/2, 2:06 and 2:08 1/2.

Trailing Miss Pluto Scott in 2-2-2 heats was E-eight, entry from the H. F. McNutt stables of Oxford, Wis., with Shaw up. Martin Weiss, of West Allis, drove his dusty bob home next in 3-3-8 heats.

Davey Does Well, But Passes Fail His Punt Returning Stand Out as Eagles Beat All-Stars

Philadelphia.—(P)—Davey O'Brien's reputation as a passer was in need of a little silver polish today but his other talents emerged unscathed from his first appearance in professional football.

Playing with the Philadelphia Eagles last night against an aggregation of college All-Stars, the former Texas Christian marvel tried nine passes and completed none. Six got nowhere. Three were intercepted.

But the Eagles won 17 to 0 and O'Brien certainly did his bit. Out-gained only by his teammate, big Dave Smukler, little Dave scored one of the Eagles' two touchdowns.

Carried five punts back for a total of 73 yards. Quick-kicked once for 29 yards. The game was played in Temple stadium for charity before 25,000.

Lake Geneva Skipper Wins Class A Event On Lake Minnetonka

MINNETONKA.—(P)—Batting a tough west wind on Lake Minnetonka, local skipper captured two victories in the three starts made on the second day of the Inland Lakes Yachting association annual regatta yesterday.

John Huff, Minnetonka, sailing Tipper III, won the Class C race while Dave Weyer, Minnetonka, at the helm of Easy Goin' Too won in Class E. A. F. Gartz, Jr., of Lake Geneva, won Class A in Big Foot. Gartz and second-finisher J. F. Perigo, of Lake Geneva, in Harry N. Gifford's Little Smoke III shared the lead through the three laps, but Gartz pulled away for a safe win.

Gartz won the series in 1936 and 1937.

Automobile Drivers At Fair Tomorrow

Milwaukee.—(P)—Rex Mays, who set a new track record but failed to win a race on last Sunday's state fair program, says he will do something about the matter in the automobile races to be held at the fair tomorrow afternoon.

Mays turned the mile track in 38.17 seconds last Sunday, bettering his old record of 38.41, then saw Ted Horn, another Californian, win three races in which both competed. Mays was second in each.

Thursday's program will consist of time trials, which start at noon; four eight-lap sprints; a five-mile special for the five fastest cars; and a 25-mile windup. The racing will start at 2:30 p. m.

More than 20 cars are entered. The drivers include a dozen who had entries in the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis last Memorial day.

AMBERS REGAINS LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE FROM ARMSTRONG

Lou Ambers, the Berkimer Hurricane from upstate New York, won back his lightweight boxing championship from Henry Armstrong in a 15-round bout in New York, but the battle proved nothing conclusive. Ambers, who forced the fighting all the way, was penalized five rounds for low punching by Referee Arthur Donovan. Ambers was not idle with his fists, however, as the upper picture taken in the early rounds would indicate. The blow on the jaw seemed to hurt Armstrong (left) more than he would admit, for it was the storm of hooks and uppercuts from Ambers' gloves that kept him in the running. Ambers is shown in the lower picture as he slipped to the canvas in the fourth round of the 15-round battle, after Henry had driven him back with a hard right. Lou was up without taking a count.

Lonnie Darling, who will manage the Oshkosh All-Star basketball team for the Oshkosh civic group which recently bought the team from him, has been elected president of the National Professional Basketball league.

Some of the more rabid fans at Clintonville have photographic proof that State league umpires can be wrong. Recently when Zelinski of Seymour hit that disputed homer at Clintonville, a picture was taken to show where the ball hit the fender of a car and that the dent was at least 18 inches in foul territory. We've taken pictures of plays at first base showing an umpire wrong on a decision but the league never ordered a ball game played over because of them. And that probably would have held had the Trucker's entered a protest on the home run. The ump calls 'em as he sees them and if his judgment is wrong it's just too bad, photographs and all that to the contrary.

Manitowish and Sheboygan recently played ball for the first time in nine years after the Ships got mad at the Chairs in the old Lake Shore league. The Chairs won, 11 to 1, and they probably won't play again for nine years.

The amateur boxing season isn't far off but right now and here we're going to watch closely the bouts in which Savior Canadeo of Green Bay and St. Norbert figures. We're not going to fall for any promoter who tells us that Canadeo will have a battle on his hands by meeting any of the talent he was tossed into the ring with last year. We like Canadeo immensely but before we'll fall for a "strong opponent" he'll have to have almost as many fights as Canadeo instead of 12 or 15 or 20. Saver is one amateur who should be a pro and that's that.

Pitcher Traded by Cubs Blanks Reds, 4-0; Allows Five Hits and Fans Eight

PHILADELPHIA.—(P)—The Phillies yesterday scored their second victory in 18 starts with the Cincinnati Reds, defeating the league leaders, 4 to 0, behind the brilliant five hit pitching of Walter Higbe.

In chalking up his fourth straight triumph and ninth of the season, Higbe, struck out eight and issued only three passes. Only in the seventh, when the Reds filled the bases with two out, was Higbe in difficulty.

Gene Thompson started on the mound for Cincinnati and gave up all the Phillies' runs. He was relieved by Lloyd (Whitey) Moore in the sixth. The veteran Henry Johnson went to the hill in the seventh after Moore was taken out for a pinch batter.

The Phillies touched Thompson for their first run in the second, Gus Suhr scoring on Walter Millie's single.

Three more were added in the sixth, Joe Marty singled to center and Herschel Martin sacrificed. Roy Hughes walked. When Morris Arnowich bounced a single off Thompson's shins, the bases were filled.

Suhr walked, forcing in Marty and Hughes scored when Iva Goodman dropped May's sacrifice. Arnowich brought in the final run.

Lewellen Named To Handle Game Assigned by Pro League Prexy to Officiate Packer-Pirate Tilt

Green Bay, Wis.—President Carl Stork of the National Football league has assigned Verne Lewellen, a member of the Pro league's officiating staff to referee the doubleheader here Friday night between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Green Bay Packers.

The National league directs the preseason contests with as much care as it does the scheduled games in the pennant chase. The appointment of Lewellen as referee adds considerably to the setup and assures the fans that the twin-bill will be handled in "big league" style.

Both the Pirates and Packers are "gunning" for the Friday tilts as if a championship hinged on the results. Reports from Two Rivers have it that Coach Johnny Blood's gridders are beginning to click on "all eleven" and the natives of the Cool City can't see anything but a gloomy night for Lambeau and Co.

The Packers are coming along nicely. Several scrimmages have toughened the players through body contact without any serious injuries and the entire squad should be fit as a fiddle when the whistle blows for the twin bill at 7:30 Friday.

All indications point to a bumper throng. The Packer ticket office is working overtime handling requests for tickets and a night crew has been put on to take some of the load off the day workers. Bargain-day prices will prevail with the ticket sale running from a $1.65 for the midfield reserved seat section to fifty-five cents in the east bowl.

GIANTS BUMP CURS New York.—(P)—Cliff Melton pitched the Giants to a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs yesterday to even their three game series. Home runs by Joe Moore and Frank Demaree gave him a margin in the first inning and he protected it with eight hit pitching.

50,000 Jam Chi Sox Park to See Yankees Win, 14-5

Crossetti, Dahlgren, Gordon Smash Homers In Third Frame

CHICAGO (AP)—The New York Yankees snapped Chicago's seven game winning streak last night, bombarding three White Sox pitchers for 14 hits, including five home runs, for a 14 to 5 victory in the longest third home night game of the season. An estimated 50,000 spectators saw their favorites crushed by the long distance attack of the world champions.

Frank Crossetti, Babe Dahlgren and Joe Gordon hit home runs before Bill Dietrich retired at the end of the third inning.

Eric McNair put the Sox back into the ball game with a home run himself in the fourth when three runs added to a pair in the second tied the game at 5-all.

Johnny Marcum kept the Yankees under control until the seventh when Red Rolfe sent the leaders ahead again with a fourth circuit smash. Joe DiMaggio contributed another hit in the eighth when the Yankees tallied three runs. They added five more in the last stanza as Mario Russo held the Sox scoreless after the fourth.

Last night's performance gave the Yankees 22 homers in their last 10 games.

Madison Woman Is Winner in Annual Trap Shoot Event

Mrs. William Gilbert, 27, Cracks 198 Out of 200 Targets

VANDALIA, O.—(P)—America's trap shooting clans were slated to play in their own backyards today, the little fellows firing against the little fellows and the hot-shots against the hot-shots, as they decided class championships at the 40th annual grand American.

Five of the class titles were up for decision, as well as the North American professional clay target championship, as the scatter-gun artists squared off for a 200-target race at 16-yards.

The shooters are classed on the averages they constructed this year on registered targets. Those who broke 97 per cent or more were in class "AA," and they'll try to wrest the crown from Phil Miller of French Lick, Ind., who won a year ago with 200 straight.

From 94 to 91 per cent was class "B," with Ren Heston of Terre Haute, Ind., defending king. Clarence Orr of East Alton, Ill., tops class "C," made up of shooters between 88 and 91 per cent.

Two new champs climbed upon the national amateur clay target throne in yesterday's bombardment, as two famous shooters were deposited.

P. O. Harbage of West Jefferson, O., broke 200 in a row to take the men's title from Joe Hiestand, the Hillsboro, O., farm boy and holder of the world long-run record of 1,171.

The women's championship went to Mrs. William Gilbert, 27-year-old wife of a Madison, Wis., tavern operator, as she broke 198 of 200 for the best score ever set by a woman in the big 16-yard classic. She went through the last 100 without a miss to bang into a fourth-place tie against the best men marksmen in the land.

Mrs. Gilbert succeeded Mrs. Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., who did not compete because of illness.

COBB HITS 370.5 MILES AN HOUR IN TEST TODAY

John Cobb of England, shown above with his "Railton Red Lion" racer set a new land speed record when he was officially clocked in 368.85 miles per hour over a measured mile on Utah's salt flats this morning. On his first trip over the mile he was clocked at 370.5 miles per hour—a mile in a trifle over nine seconds.

THURSDAY NIGHT'S GAME
Manitowoc at Clintonville.

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAMES
Green Bay at Manitowoc.
Clintonville at Two Rivers.
New London at Seymour.

THIS will be a crucial week in the Northern State league as the clubs race down the stretch to Pennantville in a blanket finish. A half dozen games are scheduled and it will be make or break for the teams chasing the leaders.

The Green Sox are figuring on a capacity crowd Wednesday when Chusman and company tackle the second place Seymour club. Lefty Petcka is slated to bend 'em for the Bays while Dick Weisgerber of no-run fame will hurl for Row and company.

Two Rivers, still very much in the fight for second lap honors, performs in New London Wednesday night and, Andy Fortin, veteran pitcher, will carry the hopes of the Cool City Clan. Marilyn Munsch is to pitch for the Bulldogs.

Thursday night Manitowoc makes its last appearance of the season in Clintonville and nothing would please Manager Al Borths any more than putting the skids under the pace setters. Hookings will probably twirl for the Ships.

Three afternoon games are booked for next Sunday. Green Bay travels to Manitowoc. Clintonville is scheduled for Two Rivers while New London jumps to Seymour where a battle royal is sure to be on tap.

The rain-maker after laying off for about six weeks put in his appearance last Sunday night at New London and washed out the Green Bay game. The Bulldogs are awaiting word from President Bernard J. Neumann on re-scheduling the fray.

Fans, who witnessed the recent Clintonville-Seymour engagement, claim it was the hardest fought combat of the season. Both clubs were on their toes every minute and the umpires had their hands full keeping peace in the family.

Volkman, the Trunkers' backstop, was the batting star of the fracas as he helped himself to three blows in four trips to the plate. One of Volkman's swats went over the garden wall and it cinched the verdict for the Clints.

Zelinske, who hasn't been hitting his weight all season for Seymour, got his eye on the ball, smacking out a circuit drive and single in three times up. In addition Zelinske played errorless ball around the red-light station.

Although Joe Vnuk, veteran Manitowoc outfielder, is holding on to top place in the league batting race he is being closely pressed by Ken Wilda, another Shipbuilder and Ty Steff, brilliant second sacker for Clintonville.

Two Rivers made it six in a row against Manitowoc last Sunday by turning back the invading Shipbuilders 6-5 in a nip-and-tuck 10 inning fracas at Walsh stadium before one of the best crowds in the Cool City this year.

A glance over the Northern State league season shows quite a number of the veterans more than holding their own with the youngsters. Al Borths is having a great year at Manitowoc and Howard Bowers is starring for Seymour.

Shorty Zuidmuller, Elmer Jacobs and Norm Clusman are very much in the limelight at Green Bay while over at Two Rivers Manager Smogolski, Andy Fortin and Eddie Raab have been setting too fast a pace for the recruits.

Three players, Steff, Clintonville; Bowers, Seymour and Clusman, Green Bay are tied in the production of doubles with nine twin sackers apiece. O. Krohn, New London, and Powell, Seymour, are next in the procession with seven each.

Speaking of brother combinations, the two Krohns have been among the New London topnotchers all season. C. Krohn is a topnotch third sacker besides being a .300 plus hitter while O. Krohn does a first class job behind the bat.

Cobb Establishes New Land Speed Mark of 368.85 M.P.H.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah—(P)—A new world land-speed record of 368.85 miles per hour—better than six miles a minute—was set today by John R. Cobb, London fur broker, in his 24-cylinder "Railton Red Lion."

Cobb, who shot his turtle-shaped car over the first lap at the phenomenal speed of 370.75 miles per hour, struck an average on two runs over the measured mile far above the previous mark of 357.5 m. p. h. held by another Englishman, Capt. George E. T. Eyston.

Cobb also smashed Eyston's kilometer record with a speed of 369.74. Eyston's kilometer record was 357.34.

Cobb's kilometer mark became the official world record. The 868.85, however, for the measured mile is the accepted standard of speed racing.

Cobb's return trip was made at 366.97. He used slightly more than half of his hour's allotted time to make the required two runs.

Cobb, a 200-pound man with a friendly smile, pounded through the kilometer at 367.92 miles per hour on the initial sprint, then sped back at 371.59, indicating his acceleration increased as he whizzed along to a well-earned victory.

Eyston's measured mile record was achieved with a north average of 36.44 and a south mark of 358.57. The south run kilometer mark of 371.59 m. p. h. was the greatest speed ever recorded for a land machine.

Red Railton, with Cobb's triumph, became the first man to claim the achievement of having designed the world's fastest land and water machines. Last week Sir Malcolm Campbell, of London, in a boat designed by Railton, smashed his own world water mark with an average of 141.74 miles per hour.

Cobb traveled 369.23 miles per hour on the north run yesterday, only to stall his motors on the return trip. But none of that difficulty was encountered this morning.

Favored by a cool and quiet dawn, the big Englishman thundered across this dry lake bed in western Utah twice without incident.

Booklet on City Gives Industrial, Social Statistics

Percentage of Home Owners High; Average Electric Bill Is $7

Kaukauna—Statistics in general are of little interest to the average person, but those incorporated in "Industrial Kaukauna," a booklet describing the city in all its phases, compiled by Francis Bowman, Madison economist, strike home. No detail of industrial, civic and social life is left unanalyzed.

Those who care for a suitable parking place may insist there are more, but the count shows Kaukauna has 1,276 registered cars, 164 registered trucks and 18 municipal vehicles. To accommodate these vehicles within the city are 34.89 miles of concrete, macadam and gravel streets.

The city's death rate shows 9.3 deaths per 1,000 population, compared to a birth rate of 24 per 1,000. Automobiles have little to do with the death rate, as the city's accident record is among the best in the state. Kaukauna has seven doctors and five dentists.

Rent From $15 to $35

The average user of electricity pays a monthly bill of $7, for lighting, cooking, water heating and refrigeration. House rentals vary from $15 to $35, with the average cost per month $20. Apartments vary from $15 to $25, with the average cost per month $18. The city's high percentage of home owners has resulted in few houses being available.

There are 10 labor unions in the city, with a total membership of 1,473. The largest is the International Brotherhood of Plumbers, local No. 147, with 610, and the smallest is the International Brotherhood of Brewery Workers, local No. 139, with 20.

Wage rates are listed at 50 cents an hour for common labor, 75 to 95 cents an hour for trades and 80 to 85 cents an hour for crafts.

There are 73 retail establishments running. Eighteen independent grocery and food stores make up the largest group, with 10 independent meat markets second. Kaukauna has 10 chain stores. Among general businesses, the gasoline stations head the list with 14, followed by 4 garages. Altogether 129 businesses are located here.

Lions Golf Club Team Wins Again

Scores 8 to 3 Victory Over Rotarians at Fox Valley Course

Kaukauna—Lions' club golfers again proved superior to their Rotary opponents at the Fox Valley course yesterday, taking an 8 to 3 victory. The best the Rotarians have been able to gain—in four matches is one tie.

Arthur H. Mongin led all players with a low score of 37. Turning in wins for the losers were Dr. G. J. Kananen, who won over Martin J. VanderVelden, one up William F. Hass, who defeated Anton Berkens, 4 and 2, and Dr. George Boyd, winner on a forfeit by Dr. A. M. Bachhuber. Norbert J. Berg, Lion, and Ben G. Prugh tied.

On the right side of the score for the Lions were Herman A. Baier, one up winner over Arthur Look; J. W. Weyenberg, two up winner over Dale Andrews; Mike Klein, 2 and 2 victor over H. F. Weekwerth; Carl Runte, 3 and 2 winner over Henry Olm; Norbert C. Becker, 2 and 1 winner over Carl J. Hansen; Arthur H. Mongin, 4 and 3 victor over L. J. Merlo, and Dr. R. J. DeLoria, who won 2 and 1 from Dr. M. G. Teske.

Kappells, C.Y.O. Play in Mud but It's No Contest

Players Slither Around For Five Innings, Then Call It Off

Kaukauna—The C.Y.O. and Kappell Tavern teams were slated to play the second game of the city championship series last night, and play they did, with no regard for a muddy diamond and a drizzling rain. After five innings, however, all concerned had had enough, and the affair was called off. Neither side had scored anyway.

A few weeds strewn about the batter's box were supposed to give the hitters a firm footing. But as the game wore on lucky was the batter whose feet did not fly from under him as he started toward first. After five innings the players agreed they never should have started, and further agreed to try it again tonight.

Giordana Stops Rally Bill Alger pitched for Kappell's and allowed only one hit, a single by Paul Koch off Schuler's glove in the third inning. Carl Giordana served them up for the C.Y.O., dish-ing out four safeties.

In the fifth frame it appeared as if Kappell's were the new city champs. Winners of the first game of the playoff series, the Taverns filled the bases with none out, and needed but one run for an almost certain win. Carl Schuler, Joey Vilis and Joe Gerz had all banged out singles, but Giordana quashed the uprising almost single-handed. Schuler tried to score when the ball got away from Catcher Franz, but Giordana ran in, took the throw from Franz and tagged Schuler out. Ves Kappell then hit to Giordana, who ran Vilis back to third base, finally tossing to Schumann who tagged him out. Giordana then made a nice play on Martens' hard hit ball to throw out the third Tavern batter.

A special trip to Phantom Lake camp, near Milwaukee, where she is a life-guard, will be made in an effort to secure her services. If Miss Horn is unable to come, Helen Roderick, star Green Bay hurler, will be on the mound. Don Biseix will pitch for the C.Y.O. The All-Stars will be without several of their players, who belong to Appleton and Oshkosh teams preparing for a state tournament at Madison next week.
